intersection. The truck, driven by Patrick Weber, 21, of Columbia, Mo., was headed north for Alton with a load of salt when it swerved to the right around two trucks then turned left to avoid hitting the backhoe which had stopped in the intersection while making a left turn into Niedringhaus Ave. The driver of the backhoe, Alton Harper, 47, of Belleville, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. The white at the bottom of the picture is some of the salt that was spilled on the pavement.

2 lounge licenses won't be renewed

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler has notified the owners of Rico's II Lounge, 3675 Namooki Road, and the Upper Level Lounge, 19th and State streets, that their liquor licenses will not be renewed when they expire April 1979.

Schuler, acting as the city's liquor control commissioner, wrote letters Tuesday to Joseph Stemmer Jr. of Granite City, license holder for the Upper Level, and to Anthony Augustine of Belleville, who holds the license for Rico's II, notifying them that "under no circumstances" will the licenses be renewed, due to numerous cases of violence and crime at and near their establishments.

Stemmer and Augustine will have recourse to the state and the courts, if they choose to fight Schuler's order. The text of the mayor's letter follows: "Your license for the sale of alcoholic beverages in the city of Granite City will not be renewed for the year 1979-80, which begins on May 1, 1979."

"The liquor commissioner of Granite City will no longer tolerate the abuse and violence that the citizens of Granite City have been forced to put up with, and which is directly attributed to Rico's II and the Upper Level."

"The constantly reoccurring cases of violence, damage to private property, disregard for the rights of others, drunkenness, disorderliness, contributing to felonious crimes, including homicide and many others, have prompted me to make this decision," the mayor alleged.

"There have even been several instances where Granite City policemen have faced great bodily harm from crowds at these establishments and only the good judgment of our Granite City police officers has prevented serious injury."

"Therefore, I am informing you as the license holder... that, under no circumstances, will I, Paul Schuler, mayor and liquor commissioner of the city of Granite City, issue a liquor license for the above mentioned establishment," the letter to each concluded.

Low home loan fee

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

A proposal that Granite City authorize a multimillion-dollar "mortgage revenue" bond issue to loosen up the local money market for buying homes was advanced to City Council members Tuesday night. While the aldermen took no immediate official action on the plan, most appeared favorably impressed with preliminary explanation of how plan would operate and agreed that further details should be worked out.

The mortgage revenue bonds which could be issued by Granite City under its home rule powers would be used to reimburse banks, savings and loan firms or other agencies which finance home mortgages for money loaned to Granite City residents for that purpose. The plan, now in operation in many Illinois home-rule communities, including Alton and Belleville, was outlined to council members by Donald L. Weber, vice-president of Stifel, Nicolaus & Co. of St. Louis, and Robert Thomas, representative of L. F.

Rothschild, Unterberg, Towbin investment firm of Chicago.

They emphasized that the mortgage buying plan would work similarly to the issuance of industrial revenue bonds which have been used successfully by the city to bring in new industries and to finance the multimillion dollar expansion of St. Elizabeth Hospital.

No proposed amount of a bond issue was discussed, but it was noted that Belleville is selling $25 million in revenue bonds to finance its program. Weber explained that of the total amount of the bonds sold, about 84 percent would go into an "acquisition fund," with the remainder going to insurance and other costs.

Under the plan, a home buyer would be able to secure a mortgage at lower rates than now offered in most instances by agencies financing home mortgages. He noted that the bonds should sell for at about 7.25 percent which would permit mortgage transactions at 8.25 percent "which is considerably less than the 9.5 or 10

Freezing rain

Freezing rain moved into the Quad City area Wednesday night, sheathing the area in a coat of ice and bringing the first real touch of winter.

While the ice covered streets and highways throughout the night, temperatures hovering around the 30-degree mark resulted in a fast breakup and rained away as the early morning traffic moved over the highways.

Most frequent problems were frozen car doors and door locks which had to be thawed before they would operate. Many persons reported late on their jobs because of delays caused by ice-covered cars.

One major accident attributed to icy

'Day that will live in infamy' recalled

(Editor's Note: A few historical events so etch themselves into the human mind that people can remember many years later exactly where they were and what they were doing when they first heard news of them. One such event is the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, launching America's role in World War II.)

(Clifton E. Blankenship, supervisor of Safety and Training at the A. O. Smith Corp. Automotive Division Granite City plant, can recall more precisely than most where he was and what he was doing when he learned of the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor. He was there.)

(As a sailor on the U.S.S. Tennessee, he manned an anti-aircraft gun which was part of the first U.S. military response to the aggression. Here is his story.)

The beginning of the day, Sunday morning aboard the U.S.S. Tennessee, was routine. Most of the conversation was the usual scuttlebutt about when we were going back to the States, whether the U.S.S. North Carolina could outshoot the German Battleship Bismarck, and how come the "brass" had "parked" the U.S.S. West Virginia on the outboard side to cut off the cool breeze coming in from the Harbor.

Little did we realize that, within the hour, the battleship West Virginia, would shield us from the destructive forces of Japanese torpedo planes.

I had picked up the Sunday morning paper and headed for the boat deck. It was a beautiful morning on the Island of Oahu. The bright sun was well clear of Diamond Head, casting a clear bright glow over the seven battlewagons in Battleship Row alongside Ford Island. Never before had I seen Pearl Harbor so still and so peaceful.

As I settled back to read my paper, I glanced at my watch. The time was 0755. Shortly after, I heard several explosions and saw two dive bombers pulling up over the Naval air station.

My first impression was the Army was getting in some early morning bombing runs, but why on Sunday morning? I got my answer almost An earlier estimate of $167,000 for additional design planning for a two-lane downtown overpass has been trimmed to $145,000 in a new agreement negotiated between the city and M.W. Architects and Engineers, St. Louis firm handling planning for the overpass project.

The reduction of $22,000 in the engineering firm's original request for fees to redesign the span over the railroad tracks on 19th Street from a four-lane to a two-lane highway was reported to City Council members Tuesday night by Alderman Ronald

Agreed 'comp' urged

The agreed-bill process — through which labor and management representatives negotiate the details of future Illinois state legislation affecting them — should be revived, Attorney Larry Calvo said at Wednesday's Rotary prayer breakfast.

A lawyer who represents the United Steelworkers and others in compensation cases, Calvo conceded that much of the present compensation controversy stems from 1975 amendments worked out by employees and the Walker administration without consultation with manufacturers, breaching the "agreed" procedure. But he praised the law and said he opposes amending it.

Paul H. Kelly, A. O. Smith Corp. plant manager, said his company and others fear that compensation abuses may give this state so unattractive a business climate that the tax base and job base will shrink drastically — unless there are significant changes in the law.

James V. Stack, president of Granite City Steel, said his corporation feels as strongly as Kelly about the issue. Loopholes for abuses can make Illinois so uncompetitive that the state and its industrial employment "go down the tube," he remarked.

When the guest speaker, Calvo, proposed that the agreed-bill process be reinstituted, State Senator Sam Vadala said this would be helpful

Surcharge hike

An ordinance establishing a surcharge of $10 per quarter to be paid by residents of township sewer areas who tap into Granite City's sanitary sewer and treatment system was enacted by the City Council Tuesday night.

The action amends the city's original sewer-rate bill which provided a surcharge of $7.50. Adoption of the new surcharge rate means that the average householder in the unincorporated areas of Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Townships where the new township sewer system is now under construction, will pay a total of $23 per quarter for sewer use and sewage treatment.

Amendment of the surcharge fee followed previous action by the aldermen increasing sewer and treatment fees for Granite Cityans from $6 per quarter to $13 per quarter, an increase of 116 percent. Since township residents will pay sewage treatment fees on the same basis as Granite Cityans, plus the $10 surcharge, the bill for the average household using up to 2,100 cubic feet of water per quarter, will total $92 per year.

Mayor Paul Schuler noted that the surcharge will be applied against township residents because Granite City has been paying several years for construction and operation of the secondary sewage treatment plant.

"This will provide for new users of

Richter leaving

Alan C. Richter, executive director of East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, announced Friday his resignation to accept a position as vice-president with United Van Lines, whose world headquarters is located in Fenton, Mo.

Richter, Gateway executive director for three years, has been with the agency for five years and in local governments in both Illinois and Missouri portions of the metropolitan area for over 30 years.

In making the announcement Friday to Gateway Board Chairman Gene McNary and to the 70-member Gateway staff, Richter said he will remain totally committed to the metropolitan area.

"I believe that this is a wonderful place to live, work and raise a family. Everyone hears about how negative St. Louisans are, but my experience tells me a different story.

"It's easy to look at the big news issues of each day and to draw a negative feeling. But I am convinced that the leaders in this area — private and public — are committed to making it a better place, as I am and as I will continue to be.

"I am proud of the accomplishments of East-West Gateway in bringing together the area's key decision-making to deal with the really tough issues that face us all. The agency has made, in my opinion, a significant contribution to the new positive attitude that many have noticed recently.

"There is much left to be done. I am confident that the region's leaders will continue their efforts, and I look forward to making a contribution as a private citizen."

The resignation becomes effective on Jan. 31.

APPLICATIONS SOUGHT

The Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging, 8787 State St., East St. Louis, is accepting resumes until Dec. 22 for the position of assistant director of the regional office, including bachelor's degree and three to five years of administrative experience, with background in grantmanship, programming and knowledge of programs and services for senior citizens.

Matthew 9:2... "Son, be of good cheer, thy sins be forgiven thee."

Do you know the thrill of knowing your sins are forgiven? Rejoice if you do, for many today have not, nor will they ever know, what it means to be forgiven by God.

It's sad to say, but some are not aware that they need forgiveness! They do not lie or steal; they do not covet; certainly, they have never committed murder. They will find it hard to ask God to save them because they do not know they are lost! This is always the case, when we compare ourselves with ourselves.

We must compare our lives to the holiness of Almighty God. Then, who shall be able to stand? There is none righteous, no not one.

The miracle of Christianity is that we ask God to forgive us our sins, and He does! He substitutes the righteousness of His son, Jesus Christ, in the place of our sins! If you believe this, you can be saved!

Ask Him, Today!

Chouteau seeks grant for sewer connections

The Chouteau Town Board of Trustees Monday night approved an application for $300,000 in community development grant funds in the 1981-82 fiscal year to help low-income township residents and the handicapped pay the cost of connecting their home sewers with new sanitary sewers being constructed in the township.

Community Development already has approved $137,000 for sewer connections in Chouteau Township for the 1980-81 fiscal year.

"I realize we will probably have to scale down the amount requested when we find out how much is available for this district, but for now, we are seeking all we can get for this purpose," Chouteau Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks commented.

The board also approved release of $5,000 in federal revenue sharing funds to the South Roxana Fire Department for new radio equipment it has purchased, and discussed with members of the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department possible projects for a $5,000 grant approved for that department.

Tentative expenditures by the Mitchell fire unit for uniforms, fire station repairs and final payment on a lot firemen purchased next to the station were approved and will be paid as invoices for each bill are submitted to the board.

The trustees approved expanding up to $150 to purchase an artificial Christmas tree and decorations for the new community center.

While residing here Mrs. Williams was a member of St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church.

Survivors include her husband, Gilbert Williams; one daughter, Miss Beverly Williams, at home; a brother, Francis Herman of Granite City; and an uncle and niece.

Overpass

Coleman, a member of the council's Street and Alley Committee. Coleman told the aldermen the new fee schedule was negotiated in a meeting with Aaron Pierson, vice-president of M.W., attended by Alderman Lloyd Bailey, also a member of the Street and Alley Committee, City Engineer Monroe Brewer and himself. The agreement was reached with the understanding that the city would pay the balance of the engineering bill that it owes M.W. for designing the four-lane overpass. The balance on that bill, which originally totaled $188,000, is $47,000.

As a result, the aldermen approved a resolution appropriating $192,000 in motor fuel tax funds to pay the $47,000 balance on the engineering bill, and to pay $145,000 of the new design work.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward questioned the use of motor fuel tax money for the overpass project.

"I am against going into motor fuel tax funds for the overpass if it is going to deplete the funds for street work," Whitmer said. He noted that "The paving with motor fuel tax money has made some real improvements this year, and the motor fuel money should be used to do a lot of other streets that are breaking and cracking up."

Coleman said, however, that the street and alley committee feels "this is the only way to do it" because Community Development funds from which design costs originally were taken, are nearly depleted. Coleman noted the Community Development fund has a balance of about $8,000.

Alderman Glen Sprankle of the Fourth Ward told the council: "There's no way we can pull out of this now. We need the overpass and we have too much in it now to abandon it."

Whitmer said that under the circumstances he would vote for the appropriation, "but if it appears that we are going to keep dipping into motor fuel tax funds for the overpass, then I'm going to say no."

"This project started out at $2 million," Coleman said. "Then it increased to $3 or $4 million, and then got up to $7 million for the four-lane overpass. Not it stands at around $5 million by cutting back to the two-lane highway. We are fighting time and there must be a bid call in March. I think the $145,000 engineering figure is realistic."

Design planning by M.W. for the four-lane highway virtually was completed when the city decided several months ago to reduce the size of the span to a two-lane highway to reduce the mounting cost of the project. By reducing the highway size, the city cut back the projected cost from $7 million to about $5 million.

Pierson, in a recent council session, explained that the design work for a two-lane structure would be an entirely new job, although the engineers could use about 20 percent of the design work already done for a four-lane structure. At that time Pierson estimated cost of the new planning work at from $165,000 to $170,000.

North band boosters open drive for uniform funds

The North Band Boosters have started a fund-raising campaign to purchase "summer uniform supplements" for the Granite High North Steeler Marching Band, it was announced by Boosters President Harold Stoker.

The summer uniform supplements will make use of the existing trousers and skirts now available, but will replace the heavy jackets and overlays with a light-weight, blouse-type upper garment and make use of sashes with plumes for head wear during hot-weather performances by the Steeler Band.

The Band Boosters on May 19 will award a Chevrolet 1979 Camaro, furnished by Mathews Chevrolet, as a climax to the drive.

"Hot weather performance has become a real problem for the band and auxiliaries these past years. The present uniforms, while beautiful and outstanding in appearance, just can't give the students the flexibility needed to be comfortable during warm weather and summer performance," Stoker said.

"We've had students pass out and fall almost every time the band performs when its very warm or just plain hot," he added.

Band Booster parents and local merchants displaying a North Band Booster Poster, will assist in the campaign.

Busy schedule for GC police Explorers

Another new project currently is occupying members of Explorer Post 10-33, the law enforcement post sponsored by the Granite City Police Department.

The 25 young men and women are now assisting officers of the Granite City Auxiliary Police Unit at activities on school campuses during the fall and winter months.

Officer Friendly Fred Hoffman, Post 10-33 adviser, said post members are helping to augment the auxiliary police force at basketball games at Memorial Gymnasium on the campus of Granite City High School South.

"The auxiliary officers always do a fine job and have provided invaluable service for many years to the Granite City Police Department and the general public," Hoffman said.

"Our Explorers have had some experience with the type of service needed at public events involving large crowds, such as basketball games, and will be aiding the auxiliaries this season."

Captain John Becker, chief of the Auxiliary Police Unit, and Officer Hoffman jointly announced the assistance project.

Presently, Post 10-33 Explorers are actively involved in assisting Santa Claus at his cabin in Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center.

The young people, both boys and girls, help Santa distribute candy treats to the youthful visitors and assist John Richardson, a professional photographer, who takes pictures of the youngsters whispering their Christmas wishes in Santa's ear for a nominal fee.

The Explorers are sponsoring Santa's cabin and will be helping the "jolly old gentleman" through Christmas Eve, Hoffman said.

The cabin is open for visits with Santa from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, from 12 noon to 8 p.m. Saturdays and from 12 noon to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Proceeds from the cabin project will be used to further programs for youth, the adviser said.

Limited wedding-party service by Champions

Frank and Helen Champion, 2445 Pontoon Road, are planning to operate only a limited wedding and party service in conjunction with their home and party to close Champion's Potpourri, 1920 Edison Ave., in the near future, they said Wednesday.

An article that the Potpourri business would be moved to their home in Monday's Press-Record was in error. Bill Burns Cateletier will be moving near the end of January into the building now occupied by the Potpourri as well as the adjoining offices on both sides, it was announced.

Mrs. Champion said the article the Potpourri would move generated some objections among neighbors who fear commercialization of that area, increased traffic and other problems.

She stressed that the wedding and party business would be "reserved, operated on a limited basis, primarily by appointment, as a service to those who would like to use the Champions to help with their weddings and parties."

She said the move is necessitated by health factors, noting they cannot continue to operate the Potpourri and need a limited business for their financial support.

Thompson eyes a 'favorite son' role

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

If Gov. James Thompson has any notion about using his fellow Republican governors as a base for a presidential campaign, he still has a lot of spadework to do. That was made abundantly clear by his colleagues attending the Republican Governor Association conference in colonial Williamsburg, Va. They are decidedly non-committal when asked to assess "Big Jim's" presidential prospects. Typical is last week's response of Indiana Gov. Otis Bowen, newly-elected chairman of the RGA: "Thompson is a brilliant young man with great potential—but there are 17 or 18 others who have to be considered."

Other responses included a kind word, always followed by a "But"—"It is too early." "He is not a candidate yet," "I have not given any thought to it," or "We do not know who the candidates are going to be."

Nor was there any appreciable enthusiasm among the governors for an idea Thompson floated primarily with reporters covering the conference. Thompson suggested Republican governors might want to exercise greater control over their state delegations to the 1980 GOP national convention by running as "favorite son" candidates.

That would bar an early front runner such as Ronald Reagan—from locking up the nomination in the primaries and give the governors greater clout at the convention. The response among other governors was that the idea was a possibility but not likely.

If Thompson were to try to become a "favorite son" himself, he could have some problems. Ex-Gov. Richard Ogilvie, who twice has headed Illinois GOP national convention delegations, has made some noises about becoming a "favorite son."

Although there would seem to be little doubt that Thompson, with the power of the governor's office behind him, could easily deny Ogilvie that role, it would further open a sore in the GOP's side in Illinois—if Ogilvie is serious about it.

To be fair, it should be noted that Thompson consistently says he is not a candidate for president. But since he does not rule it out, he is asked questions about his presidential aspirations repeatedly wherever he goes—and particularly at gatherings covered by national reporters.

As one Illinois politico told us, "Thompson probably would have an ulcer if he didn't."

There would seem to be no reason to doubt Thompson when he says he is not preparing for a presidential campaign.

Those closest to him say the same thing, some with a note of disappointment that he is not a least learning the mechanics of delegate gathering in the event he should decide to make a move.

Gov. Thompson figures he has at least until the spring of 1979 before he has to make a decision.

In the meantime, he is free to make himself known in other states—and Thompson is the first to say he has no base outside of Illinois.

For example, he will be going to Massachusetts to speak at a fund-raiser for Francis Hatch, an unsuccessful GOP gubernatorial candidate. Thompson said he was invited by his old friend and onetime boss, ex-Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson.

Attending "line-of-duty" functions, such as governors' conferences, gives him a chance not only to develop ties with other governors but also to reap national publicity.

He has no trouble attracting the press.

Indeed, at the RGA conference, the only person drawing the attention was actress Elizabeth Taylor, wife of Virginia Sen.-elect John Warner. His ability to draw attention could cause some resentment among his fellow governors.

When asked to assess Thompson, several mentioned that he does seem to be able to command media attention. Those observations seemed to be mixed with a touch of envy.

NORTH SPEECH student John Hartung, left, earned second place in extemporaneous speaking and Mark Belleville, won first place in humorous interpretation at Charleston, Ill., during the weekend as they competed against 21 high schools in the Eastern Illinois Speech tournament.

'Evening With Santa' presentation Friday

"'Twas the Night Before Christmas," the holiday poem that delights children at Christmastime, will be brought to life by members of the Madison Junior Service Club at their annual "Evening With Santa" program, set Friday.

More than 450 youngsters, mostly between the ages of 3 and 8 years old, will attend the special pre-holiday show and visit with Santa Claus, starting at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the Croatian Home, 1000 Madison Ave., Madison.

The youthful participants will be served hot dogs, potato chips, cupcakes and orange drinks at 6:30, before viewing the 30-minute presentation at 7:30 p.m.

Afterward, each child will be given an opportunity to visit with Santa Claus and tell him their Christmas wishes. Yule treats will be distributed before the youngsters depart.

Mary Ann Kaminski, Madison Junior Service

president, said at least 450 tickets have been sold for the event, one of the club's largest projects of the year.

About 30 Junior Service members are involved in the production, Julia Voloski, general chairman, advised.

Janet Schultz, who was in charge of ticket sales, said most parents remain with the youngsters during the "Evening With Santa" show.

Reimbursement for headstones $590 taken from safe

The Veterans Administration is now permitted to reimburse a veteran's survivors for part of the money they spend for an eligible veteran's headstone or marker in any private cemetery.

This is one of the provisions of the Veterans' Housing Benefits Act of 1978 recently passed by Congress and signed into law by President Carter. Survivors now have a choice of getting a VA-supplied headstone or marker or one they choose from a commercial supplier. The VA reimbursement, however, cannot exceed the average amount VA pays for the headstones or markers it supplies.

Currently this amount is estimated at about $48, far below the average cost of headstones or markers on the open market.

For those who choose to have a headstone or marker provided by VA, the agency now has the flexibility to provide headstones or markers of any material (marble, granite, bronze, slate or other) aesthetically compatible with the cemetery in which it is to be located.

Assistance in filing applications for reimbursement or for headstones or markers can be obtained at any VA office. Applications for reimbursement must be forwarded to the nearest regional office. Applications for headstones or markers must be forwarded to Director, Headstone Service, National Cemetery System, Veterans Administration, Washington, D.C. 20260.

Max Cleland, administrator of Veterans Affairs, reminds survivors that VA may reimburse them also for part of the burial expense for an eligible veteran. The new amounts are $1,100 if the death is service-connected and $300 if it is not. These amounts are in addition to $150 plot allowance if the veteran is not buried in a national cemetery.

$590 taken from safe

Two or three bank envelopes containing $590 were stolen from a safe at the Metro Service Station, 23rd Street and Nameki Road, between 2:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Joe Scheibel, who discovered the envelopes were missing and notified police, said the contents included currency and change. They were marked First National Bank in Collinsville.

He explained the station attendants keep only a minimum amount of cash on their person and deposit the funds in the safe upon reaching a specific figure.

The safe was locked, but the dial had been left in a predetermined position to give the employees quicker access when busy.

Scheibel was busy with customers and failed to notice the envelopes were gone until placing his own deposit in the safe about 6:15 p.m. at which time the safe was locked and the plate cover in place, he said. The operator said several persons had been in the station office during the time mentioned.

POLICE LIGHT "ON" positioned on the reverse side of the "following too closely" signs. This light can be seen by waiting state police units farther down the highway.

New Highway monitors will tell on drivers following too closely

By PAT FOLEY
Press-Record Staff Writer
An experimental monitoring system will be installed at three locations on Interstate 270 between the Illinois 111 and the Mississippi River, beginning in March.

This will be the first monitoring system of its kind in the state. R. Dron Electric Co., Granite City, was the apparent low bidder at a bid opening last week with a bid of $94,757. This is almost $30,000 below the state estimate.

The system will signal that vehicles on the Interstate are following too closely behind the vehicles ahead of them. The system will employ both infrared beams and electronic signs which will warn motorists that they are getting too close to cars ahead of them, or that they are in violation of state traffic laws.

Not only will the motorists be cautioned by the signs but so will state police units positioned down the highway.

The infrared projector units will be positioned above the roadway and are angled downward to sensors which will be installed in the pavement. When a vehicle passes through the infrared beam projected by the over-head units, an electronic apparatus records the interruption then waits for the next interruption to electronically check the distance between the two. At 55 miles per hour if a vehicle comes within 100.8 feet of the car ahead, "caution" will light up on the "following too closely" sign approximately 150 feet ahead.

If a vehicle traveling 55 mph comes within 55.2 feet of the vehicle it is following, "violation" will appear on the sign ahead and the motorist should anticipate seeing a state police car in the vicinity. The machine is programmed to prorate the distances for any given vehicle speed. Three locations have been chosen on I-270. The first will be on the west-bound lanes at a point east of Illinois Route 203. The second monitoring point also will be on the west-bound lanes just west of the St. Thomas Road overpass near Route 3.

The third monitoring point will be on the east-bound lanes near the west approach of the I-270 Chain of Rocks Canal bridge.

To make sure that the motorists see the signs, they will be made 6 by 10 feet with the words "caution" and "violation" illuminated electronically.

State police are not sure at this time how they will enforce the violations, but a Department of Transportation spokesman said that they will meet with the state police to "iron out the bugs" in the new system.

The contract for the job is expected to be awarded to R. Dron Electric Co. within the next three to four weeks.

Sewer fees

the system to pay their share," the mayor said.

Prior to amendment of the Granite City rate schedule, which provides a sliding scale of fees for larger users on the basis of the column of water used, the cost to township users totaled $13.50 per quarter.

This was made up of the $7.50 per quarter surcharge, plus the $6 per quarter fee assessed all sewer users. Since the Granite City fee schedule was upped to the $13 per quarter level, and the surcharge raised to $10, the township area fee is increased to the $23 per quarter figure.

The increase in fees for both Granite City sewer users and those who later will tap into the treatment systems was prompted by requests from major bondholders that the city increase its revenue because the previous fee system was not covering debt service costs.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township and former chairman of the County Board sewer committee that developed construction of the county sewer program, said following the council action that he is questioning the propriety of the surcharge.

"It was always our understanding from the Environmental Protection Agency that the people in the county sewer area would pay the same fee as is paid by Granite City sewer users," Sparks said.

"As far as I am concerned, I'd be the first to object to paying any more than Granite City residents, because that's the way EPA said it would be."

"In view of this, I would want to talk to EPA before saying whether or not I am agreeable to the surcharge."

By virtue of his office as township supervisor, Sparks will remain on the county sewer committee, but no longer will have a vote. Sparks was defeated in a bid for re-election as a County Board member in the Nov. 7 election.

percent rate charged by some agencies."

Thomas noted that issuance of the bonds would impose no indebtedness liability against the city. He explained that all loans would be insured by Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp. to provide coverage of losses up to a "pool policy" limit by reason of any default on any mortgage loans.

Both investment brokers said that details would have to be worked out in the event Granite City is interested in proceeding with the plan, particularly the total amount of the bond issue and regulations governing the acquisition of mortgages.

Weber and Thomas said they have arranged a meeting with home mortgage lenders in the Quad-Cities to discuss the extent of their interest in the program.

Regular lending agencies would handle details of issuing the mortgages, and then would be reimbursed from the bond acquisition fund. The city would not be involved in the lending or collection factors.

"The city's only part in the program would be lending its authority as a home-rule community to issue the bonds," Weber said.

Thomas and Weber agreed with City Council members that they will meet with local lending agencies and then report back to the council to determine what further steps are to be taken.

Mayor Schuler said he believed the plan would free money for home buying and that the city should proceed in further consideration of the plan.

Arvil Taylor, administrative aide to Mayor Schuler, said that after lending agencies "tell us what they will do," a joint meeting of all interested parties would be arranged to work out further details.

Bus shelters are issue at Venice

Criticism of the Bi-State Transit System for failure to install three of four bus shelters was voiced during a meeting of the Venice City Council Tuesday night.

Alderman John Ervin asserted the bus company had promised to install four shelters in Venice, but thus far has erected only one. He brought up the matter after a letter from Bi-State was read, requesting two locations for additional shelters.

"All they do is play paper games," Ervin said. "We already were supposed to have four shelters and now we have one. Now they say they want to put up two more. I would like to ask the clerk to write them and find out what they are doing, if they know, and ask Bi-State where the other three shelters are that we are supposed to have."

The council approved paying for the Venice senior citizens party on Tuesday, Dec. 12, at 5 p.m., and the Silver Bells Senior Citizen party on Monday, Dec. 18.

The council approved an agreement with the Illinois Department of Transportation whereby the state will assume expenses for new signal lights under a new law passed July 29, 1978. The city will pay only for the electricity the signal lights use.

It was reported to the council that Illinois Bell Telephone began Monday to install underground cables in accordance with terms of their franchise.

Two bills, one for $17,000 and one for $12,000, were approved for payment to the J. S. Alberici Construction Co. for repair work of McKinley bridge.

MAYFLOWER ANCHORS
On Nov. 11, 1620, the "Mayflower," after a stormy passage, came to anchor in Cape Cod Bay, now Provincetown Harbor.

Few accidents, however, were reported this morning in the Quad-City area.

Bergfield seated on sanitary board

David Bergfield, 3256 Edgewood Ave., was seated on the Metro-East Sanitary District Board of Commissioners Monday.

Bergfield, a supervisor at Granite City Steel, replaces Leonard Hylla of Madison, who asked not to be reappointed when his term expired Dec. 1.

Hylla told the Press-Record he resigned because he could get no support for his efforts to trim expenses and auto mileage reimbursements.

Bergfield, a Republican, is the sixth commissioner on the board under a disagreement over which county, Madison or St. Clair, has the right to appoint a majority of three members.

The issue of which county should have the third seat, by law the county with the larger assessed valuation, is to be considered by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Madison County became the larger county by assessment, this year, but Robert Eastern of East St. Louis refused to step down and a circuit court ruled he can not be removed because the law determining the board majority is based upon wealth instead of population and is, therefore, unconstitutional.

MIDEAST ACCORD Egypt and Israel signed the six-point cease-fire agreement sponsored by the United States and began direct discussions on carrying out the accord.

Pearl Harbor

immediately. A Japanese Zero, pulling out of a dive, almost collided with our main top as he veered across the harbor. The huge red-orange circle on the underside of the wings stood out as clear as the morning sun.

I yelled, "It's a Jap." The officer of the deck had made the same observation. "General quarters" was already sounding over the alarm system.

Sailors headed for their battle stations. Huge columns of smoke erupted from the Naval air station on Ford Island.

While preparing the anti-aircraft battery for action, I recalled that one of the gunnery officers had once told me that the average life expectancy for an anti-aircraft gunner in battle was two or three minutes, as if it really mattered at this moment.

The next 15 minutes were filled with devastation and disbelief, valor and terror, as the Japanese planes rained destruction on the ships and stations at Pearl Harbor.

I was an anti-aircraft gunner on Mount No. 6. We had a total of eight 5-inch guns on the anti-aircraft gun deck. But, we did not have enough personnel to fully man them.

We normally had a minimum of eight men on each gun mount, not including our ammunition supply detail. I finally gathered four men assigned to Gun No. 6 and commenced firing without a fuse setter.

This meant that our five-inch shell would not go off unless we scored a direct hit. We confirmed one direct hit on a Zero before a lieutenant came along and volunteered his services as a gunner, if we could show him what to do.

He had never been on an anti-aircraft gun before, but he did a good job until we momentarily ran out of targets. I tried to cease firing, but each time I would load the gun, it would fire. The lieutenant had inadvertently locked the firing key in "on" position.

After this was corrected and, with the fuses pre-set to explode at a predetermined time, we continued to fire as fast as ammunition could be made available.

We exhausted the 50 rounds of ammunition in the ready boxes, and it was several minutes before the shells began coming up the ammunition hoist.

Events occurred so fast that chaos and disorder prevailed.

I was aware that torpedo planes were making their run from the harbor side, and that we could not fire on them on their own port side. The torpedoes — dropped within a short distance of Battleship Row — slammed into the side of the West Virginia and the Oklahoma, moored alongside.

Maryland, which was in front of my ship, the Tennessee.

The West Virginia began to list to port and the Oklahoma sank to the bottom of the harbor. She had received several direct bomb hits, and had taken six torpedoes on her port side.

Her planes and ammunition were exploding.

The quarter deck and bridge were on fire, and several planes abandoned ship into a sea of burning oil. The Oklahoma started to list at about the same time. She did not settle to the bottom as the West Virginia did, but continued to list. She finally capsized with only part of the bottom still visible above the water.

After the torpedo bombers made their run, the horizontal bombers made a perfect bombing run right down the middle of Battleship Row. Not one battleship — California, Maryland, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Tennessee, Arizona or the Nevada — escaped the 1,600-pound bombs.

The sinking of the West Virginia, Oklahoma and Arizona was the most unbelievable sight that I witnessed during World War II.

The most inspiring sight occurred at the height of the battle of Pearl Harbor, when the U.S.S. Nevada, moored just off the stern of the burning Arizona, got underway. She was heading toward the channel, guns blazing.

The Japanese planes swarmed down upon her. It was obvious that they were trying to sink her in the channel and bottle up the whole fleet.

With bombs exploding on her decks, fore and aft, and her guns firing, it appeared that the whole top side was on fire.

When it looked like they might succeed in sinking her in the channel, the chief quartermaster — who had gotten her under way and almost out of the harbor, stayed clear of the main channel and nosed her bow into the beach at Hospital Point on the south shore.

Across the harbor, the U.S.S. Pennsylvania in dry dock and several other ships including the destroyers, Cassin and Downs, began to take a terrific beating. They became the prime targets, including cruisers and destroyers moored at the U.S. Naval Station piers.

Huge columns of smoke and explosions made it clear that no ships were escaping the hail of destruction. At this point, the entire harbor was a mass of flame and explosions.

The Tennessee was more fortunate than the other battleships around us. The West Virginia had made it almost impossible for the torpedoes to reach our hull from the port side, and Ford Island was protecting us on the starboard side.

Even smoke from the Arizona offered some protection from the air as it drifted in our direction. However, the same bombers that had sunk the Arizona made two direct hits on the "Big T."

The accuracy of the horizontal bombing run made down Battleship Row was fantastic. The first bomb hit the center gun on our main battery turret, sent forward the bridge, propelling shrapnel and burning phosphorus in all directions. Shrapnel from this bomb slammed against the side of our gun gun.

Meanwhile, I saw the captain of the West Virginia fall mortally wounded from the same bomb. A young officer, from the West Virginia, scaled the after bulkhead to the bridge in the midst of fire and explosions in an effort to rescue his dying skipper from the inferno.

The next wave of planes strafed us from bow to stern. They concentrated their attacks on the top side sailors manning the anti-aircraft guns, including the machine guns in the fore and main tops.

The new ballistic shields that had been installed around our gun during our last stay in the Navy yard saved many of our lives as machine gun bullets ripped into the deck around us.

The attack had been under way for over two hours and still the planes continued to attack in waves.

The water around us was a solid mass of flame as motor launches from several ships battled the inferno to rescue wounded sailors and recover bodies floating in the debris. The burning oil from the Arizona, West Virginia and Oklahoma set the Tennessee on fire around the second deck amidships at last.

Fire hoses had been broken out to fight the fire on the Nevada, in an effort to move his ship from the wreckage and burning oil, had gotten up steam and attempted to get under way. We were wedged between the West Virginia and the concrete mooring quays unable to move.

In turning the screws over, it was noted that the prop wash under the funnel, was washing the burning oil away from the Tennessee.

Although we weren't moving, the skipper continued to turn the screws over, enabling the firefighting crews to bring the fires under control.

Although 37 years have gone by since this "day of infamy," episodes during the three-hour attack are still very clear in my memory.

I recall the sailors from the West Virginia, Oklahoma and a few from the ill-fated Arizona climbing aboard the Tennessee during the climax of the battle.

Although they were battered and beaten, they still came out of the burning water and asked, "What can I do to help?"

During the early part of the battle, I rushed into a compartment on the boat deck to get steel helmets for my gun crew. Within the confines of this compartment were both officers and enlisted men frozen in a state of shock and bewilderment.

I observed this look of disbelief and horror on many a man's face during the attack. This was particularly true with the men returning from shore leave.

Since they hadn't seen all that had happened, they just couldn't believe what they saw.

There were other men who appeared as calm and calculated as machines, as they fought back with the courage and determination that possess some men in battle.

The human reactions may have varied completely during this attack, but of one thing I am certain: There was fear in the hearts of all men at Pearl Harbor that day.

BREAK INTO ROOM

Janet Mills, 1712 Spring Ave., drove past a vacant apartment she owns at 28th and Iowa streets and saw a man push back a curtain in the apartment last week. She notified police who discovered the front door had been pried open. A vacuum cleaner is the only thing known missing.

Car exhaust inspections proposed

Most automobile owners in this region may be required to have their vehicles inspected annually for compliance with federal emission standards beginning in 1982 if a recommendation by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board of directors is passed into law by the Missouri and Illinois state legislatures.

The Board voted Wednesday to recommend implementation of an automobile inspection and maintenance program in the St. Louis metropolitan area as one strategy to bring regional air quality into compliance with national standards by 1982.

According to St. Louis Mayor James Conway, "In order to attain standards set by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the area's hydrocarbon emissions must be reduced by 60 percent and carbon monoxide emissions by 40 percent." He serves as chairman of Gateway's Air Quality Advisory Committee.

Boyd to leave council Mrs. Hayes dies today

Alderman Clyde "Buz" Boyd of the Third Ward, a member of the City Council for the past 18 years, will not seek re-election in the April 3, 1979, Granite City election, he indicated during the regular council meeting Tuesday night.

During a discussion of future events, Boyd remarked, "That is good for the future, although I mean, I know I won't be with you."

Boyd has told associates that he will not run again. He is building a new home in the Seventh Ward and now spends much of his time out of the city, serving as a state arbitrator.

The terms of seven aldermen will expire next year. Venice also will elect four aldermen and Madison will elect five.

NATIVITY SCENE STOLEN Eight fixtures making up a nativity scene that had been in front of the First Methodist Church in Venice for many years was reported stolen at 8:10 a.m. Wednesday. The fixtures are valued at several hundred dollars.

Mrs. Virginia Hayes, 53, of 1518 rear Fifth St. Madison, was pronounced dead at home at 7:50 a.m. today by Dick Missett, Madison County deputy coroner.

She had been under the care of a physician and died of an apparent heart attack.

Among her survivors is two daughters, Kathy Forehand and Debbie, both of Washington Park.

Funeral arrangements are being in the obituary column.

Treat your sweet tooth to cake

Cake is an integral ingredient in American life. It's as traditional as a church picnic; as today as dessert-defrosting for a unexpected company.

Cake—especially when it's made from scratch—contains milk, eggs, fruits and enriched ingredients that are good for most people.

So why not get the family together and prepare yourselves a special treat? Let a cake turn tonight into an occasion.

POPPY SEED CHEESECAKE

1/2 cup Graham cracker crumbs
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1 1/4 cups sugar, divided
3 tbsps. flour
3 tbsps. poppy seed
2 8-oz. packages cream cheese, softened
1 cup sour cream
1 1/2 tps. vanilla
6 eggs, separated
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
Whipped cream (optional)

Preheat oven to 275 degrees. Mix crumbs with cinnamon. Coat sides of a 9-inch, well-buttered springform pan with crumbs and press into the bottom; set aside.

In the large bowl of an electric mixer, combine 1/2 cup of the sugar with flour and poppy seeds. Add cream cheese, sour cream and vanilla, beating until mixture is smooth.

In a small bowl, beat egg yolks until light and lemon colored; blend into cheese mixture. Add salt to egg whites; beat until foamy. Add cream of tartar; beat until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in remaining sugar; beat until stiff but not dry.

Fold into cheese mixture. Turn into prepared pan and bake until cake is firm in the center, about 1 hour and 30 minutes. Turn off oven. Open door about six inches at the top, propping it open with a cake pan. Allow cake to remain in the oven until cool, about two hours.

Remove cake from oven and decorate with whipped cream, if desired. Makes one 9-inch cake.

SPICED PUMPKIN LAYER CAKE

16-oz. can pureed pumpkin
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/4 cup water
3 eggs
1 pkg. (1-lb., 2 1/2-ozs.) yellow cake mix
4 tps. grated orange peel
2 tps. pumpkin pie spice
1 cup chopped walnuts
Nutmeg-Cream Cheese Frosting (see below)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour two 9-inch round cake pans; set aside. In a large bowl, mix pumpkin, brown sugar, water and eggs. Add cake mix, peel and pie spice. Mix at low speed until blended; then at medium speed for five minutes.

Sit in walnuts. Pour into prepared pans. Bake until a cake tester inserted into the center of the cake comes out clean, 30 to 35 minutes. Let cool in pans for 10 minutes. Turn onto wire rack to cool. Spread one layer with half the frosting. Top with second layer; spread with remaining frosting. Garnish with chopped walnuts, if desired.

NUTMEG CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

3-ozs. package cream cheese, softened
One-third cup butter, softened
4 cups confectioners' sugar
1/2 tsp. ground nutmeg
2 tps. vanilla
1 1/2 to 2 tps. milk or water

In medium bowl, beat cream cheese and butter until well blended. Gradually add confectioners' sugar, mixing until well combined. Stir in nutmeg and vanilla. Gradually add milk, beating at medium speed after each addition until frosting is of spreading consistency.

CINNAMON MARBLE POUND CAKE

1 1/2 cups butter, softened
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 1/2 tps. vanilla
1 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 cup sour cream
2 1-oz. squares unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
1/2 tsp. cinnamon

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Grease and flour a 9-by-5-by-3-inch loaf pan; set aside.

In a large bowl, cream butter; beat in sugar until fluffy. Mix in eggs and vanilla. In a medium bowl, mix flour and soda. Add half to the butter mixture; mix well.

Mix in half the sour cream. Repeat steps with remaining flour and sour cream. Remove 1 1/2 cups of the batter to a small bowl; mix in cooled chocolate. To remaining batter, add cinnamon; mix well. Spoon half of the cinnamon batter into the prepared loaf pan. Spoon half of the chocolate batter on top. Repeat with remaining batters.

Swirl with a knife, using an up and down motion. Bake until a cake tester inserted into the center of the cake comes out clean, about 1 1/2 hours. Let cool in pan 10 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack to cool.

CHOCOLATE GLAZE

1-oz. square unsweetened chocolate
1 1/2 tps. butter
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. vanilla
About 1/2 cup. hot water

In small saucepan, melt chocolate and butter over low heat. Remove from heat; stir in sugar, cinnamon and vanilla. Mix in water, a teaspoon at a time, until glaze is thin enough to pour easily. Drizzle over cooled pound cake.

LUSCIOUS AND TEMPTING. Cakes take first place in most dessert races. The cakes pictured here are spiced with cinnamon, pumpkin pie spice and other fragrant flavors. Cheesecake is "cake," too, and the version in the foreground contains poppy seeds. The spiced pumpkin layer cake uses convenience ingredients to make baking easier. The third cake is a variation of a pound-type marble loaf. A thin chocolate glaze blends well with cinnamon in the cake.

Niedringhaus paving done

The Niedringhaus railroad crossing was opened to traffic Friday upon completion of street resurfacing by the city.

The city resurfaced and widened the street by five feet on each side as part of a crossing replacement program conducted by the railroad under orders from the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The new asphalt surface, which cost the city $35,000, and the track repairs replace one of the worst rail crossings in the city. The city now has a program under way to resurface the approach west of the West Pontoon Road grade crossing where tracks and the crossing also are to be repaired.

Work is under way by the Alton & Southern and Illinois Terminal Railroad to replace the crossings on Edwardsville Road near 14th Street. Granite City Steel also is repairing the crossings at that point.

Traffic deaths reach total for last year

Two traffic deaths in the Quad-City area during November brought to 20 the total number of persons fatally injured in area accidents so far this year, matching the total of 20 recorded during all 12 months of last year, according to statistics compiled by the Press-Record.

The two fatalities last month compared to none during November 1977. No fatalities were reported in the Quad-City area during the last four months of 1977, making a total of five months last year in which no fatalities occurred. Last year's total of 20 fatalities was reached in August 1977 when four persons died in traffic accidents.

So far this year, however, there has been only two months that were free of traffic deaths—April and August. There was one fatality in January, two in February, two in March, one each in May and June, three in July, four in September and four in October.

There was a total of 48 accidents in November that resulted in injuries to 78 persons, an increase in both injury accidents and the number of persons injured over November last year. Last year's November statistics show 38 injury accidents with 59 persons injured. The statistics do not include accidents involving property damage only.

Totals for the 11 months of this year include 564 accidents resulting in injuries to 826 persons. This compared with 11-month totals of last year that included 604 injury accidents with 896 persons injured.

Driver faces 3 charges

James A. Lewis, 35, of 1721 Spruce St., was arrested Monday at East 23rd Street and Nameoki Road after he allegedly drove his car at a high rate of speed, and when stopped by a police car asked the officer what CB radio channel he monitored.

The officer alleged there was an open can of beer on the car's console, five unopened cans of beer and a .38-caliber pistol on the seat and a bottle of whiskey on the front floorboard.

Lewis was charged with careless driving, illegal transportation of liquor and unlawful use of a weapon.

Pontoon buys candy for Santa visit

Pontoon Beach trustees agreed during the weekend to purchase 1,200 Christmas stockings to be given to village children when Santa Claus visits Dec. 23. The trustees donated their per-diem salaries from a weekend meeting and voted to use $180 in village general fund monies, giving a total of $450 to the chief of police, Rosewell Bennett Jr., to purchase the small stockings of candy.

Santa will tour the village from 5 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 23, visiting each street.

Santa's arrival will be heralded by police or fire sirens in vehicles accompanying him.

Big grant to industrial park at Parks Airport

Bi-State Parks Airport has received almost $4,000,000, the largest award of combined federal and Illinois funds in the 14 years of ownership and operation by the Bi-State Development Agency. The award was announced Friday by James Nations, a Bi-State commissioner and chairman of the agency's Airport Committee.

Nations said the funds will be provided through grants from the U.S. Economic Development Agency (EDA) and the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), with matching Illinois and Bi-State money.

The largest grant, $2,266,000, will be provided by EDA, with Illinois and Bi-State each providing $483,250 for a total of $3,237,500.

The Federal Aviation Administration is also supporting the industrial complex project and has tentatively committed funds for internal service road and aircraft apron improvements costing approximately $700,000.

These projects are to begin following improvements made under the EDA grant.

EDA money is to be used for the Bi-State Parks industrial park expansion program, which includes construction of a building to serve as both administrative headquarters for the industrial complex and as the new airport terminal.

Additionally, the complex will have an airport access road with overpasses over Upper Calhoun Road and the Missouri-Pacific Railroad tracks, public parking areas, landscaping, associated water and sewage facilities, and maintenance equipment required for commercial development of the airport-owned industrial park properties.

In announcing the large Bi-State Parks grant, Nations said, "The funds

Partial closing of W. Pontoon Monday

Partial closing of the West Pontoon Road railroad crossing is scheduled at 8 a.m. Monday to permit the Illinois Central Gulf and the Norfolk & Western railroads to make temporary repairs to their tracks. City Engineer Monroe Brewer reported Tuesday.

He said the city agreed to the partial closing to make temporary repairs to the crossing while the work proceeds. He said the roadway is wide enough that two lanes of traffic may be possible.

The work is scheduled to take the remainder of the week, Brewer said.

He said the city agreed to the partial closing to make temporary repairs to the crossing while the work proceeds. He said the roadway is wide enough that two lanes of traffic may be possible.

Plans were made in early fall for completing the crossing replacement on a permanent basis with the city scheduled to resurface the west approach to the tracks. A delay by the ICG in plans to remove one of its two sets of track held up resurfacing work until colder weather prevented asphalt work.

Brewer said the city will resurface the West Pontoon approach and raise the grade of the roadway to lessen the incline when work is resumed next spring.

He said city engineers met with railroad officials last week and received a commitment for resuming the grade crossing repairs early next year.

He has traveled and sung throughout America, Canada, the Caribbean, South America, Mexico, the United Kingdom, Holland, South Africa and other countries.

Brazil topic of Baptists

The Baptist Women of Suburban Baptist Church met at the church last week for a study of foreign missions in conjunction with the book, "Brazilian Obsessions."

Mrs. Denise Wright assisted by Tammie Garish and Laura Shanks explained the work in progress in missions in Brazil and how the church there differs from local churches.

Those attending were the Rev. Harold Garrett, Wilmer Stinson, Bill McMasters, Georgetown Monical, Dee Smith, Greg Riddle, Ed Monahan, Prash Monahan, Alice Robertson, Sue Tiedloff, Darlene Smith, Kathy Smith, Bill Terrell, Jean Fisher, Ray Fisher, Laura Flowers, Arley McFalls, Florence Petrovich and Edna Jackson.

On the same evening meetings were also held for the Mission Friends and Girls in Action at separate locations in the church.

Mrs. Mallie Stinson taught the lesson on "On the Big River" in relation to Brazil and its missions there, for members of Mission Friends.

Attending the session were Robbie Terrell, Matthew Stinson and Richard Robertson.

Girls in Action under the leadership of Jo Ann Terrell studied "Surprise for Marie," a story set in the Philippines. Present were Marie Smith, Kate Spiller and Ann Marie Garnet.

They also had a program on "Jungle Frontier," a discussion on Brazil led by Mrs. Gaynell Spiller and Mrs. Hilda McMasters.

Venice residents giving serious thought to authorizing a major increase in their school system's tax ceiling

What with Proposition 13 in California and similar indications of concern about governmental spending, this undoubtedly is an era of opposition to increased taxation. Nevertheless, many Venice School District residents are giving serious thought to increasing their school tax ceiling in a special election, currently set for Dec. 16.

Under the proposal to be submitted to voters, the education fund rate limit for each $100 assessment would rise from $2.65 to $3.40 and the building fund taxing limit would climb from 37 1/2 to 5 1/2 cents. The overall Community Unit District Three rate would increase from the present $3.57 1/2 to $4.52 1/2.

References to assessed valuation go a long way toward explaining the monetary crunch that has developed. The school district's tax base has dropped 5 1/2 million in the past year and more than $11 million in a four-year period.

A statement issued by the Board of Education sums up the problem. It states, in part: "A 16-year assessment reduction from $39,591,595 to $20,751,543; higher costs; and failure to pass a $1.20 tax rate increase in 1973.

"The district's financial situation has become critical over the past three years," the board relates.

"In spite of our having cut back 20 teaching positions and three non-teaching positions in the past ten years, the combination of rising costs and rapidly dropping assessed valuation cannot be overcome without additional funds.

"The last educational tax increase (60 cents) occurred in December 1975, after four unsuccessful tries over the previous 2 1/2 years. The following year, valuation declined by $2 1/2 million, wiping out much of the increase which would have been derived from the new rate.

"It is a fact that the school district, as it presently exists, cannot survive much longer without an immediate increase in funds."

Arms limit debated but what of big Soviet buildup?

Press-Record Washington Bureau — It has been apparent for months that the Carter administration is coordinating a campaign to build support in the Senate and the country for a prospective strategic arms accord with the Soviet Union.

There are those in Washington who see a connection between this sales campaign and Mr. Carter's sudden conversion to the cause of increased defense spending. We think there is something to be said for this interpretation.

What other explanation is there for the president's new defense posture after he scrapped the B-1 bomber last year, cut development funds for the MX missile as a supplement to the Minuteman ICBM production line?

Why last month's abrupt decision to boost spending for land and submarine-based strategic missiles and to revive the country's moribund civil defense program?

According to reliable reports, the president is also prepared to propose funding for a series of modifications to the Air Force's FB-111 intermediate range bombers. Already dubbed the "Son of B-1," this program would increase the FB-111's range, augmenting its usefulness as a supplement to the aging B-52, the nation's only strategic bomber.

Presumably, the administration has concluded that these programs and the resulting three percent increase in next year's defense budget are necessary to allay apprehension over the relative decline in American military strength compared to that of the Soviet Union.

But, of course, this decade-long Soviet buildup was as readily apparent last year — when Mr. Carter was cutting defense programs — as it is this year.

Beyond the strictly military equation, both detente and SALT have been losing steam politically for some time. The defeat of five pro-SALT senators — no doubt underscored the need for some administrative recommendation prior to next year's anticipated ratification debate.

There is more than a little irony in the administration's ratification strategy. After all, SALT agreements are supposed to put a cap on military spending, at least for strategic weapons.

Unfortunately, the Carter administration seems committed to ratification of whatever deal it can finally pry from the Kremlin. That the administration now finds itself compelling to promise increased defense spending in anticipation of SALT II is a measure of how flawed that agreement may be.

With or without a SALT II treaty, the stronger defense posture the administration now proposes is unquestionably necessary.

But we wonder if a much better SALT agreement might have been negotiated with the Soviets if the Carter administration had supported a tougher defense policy last year.

Disillusioned by state salary vote

To the Editor:

Governor Thompson and Illinois representatives who voted "yes" — We call you honorable. We trust you to make decisions for us which every day in every way affect our lives. We know about but tolerate the gratuities we know go with some offices. We have heard for years that Illinois legislators are the most corrupt but have dismissed it as hearsay. We thought we would benefit from Watergate.

We were certain that Proposition 13 would make our representatives more responsible to us.

We, the people, how pitiful, how foolish we are made to look by our innocent assumptions.

Should we ever again tell anyone who we voted for?

We have ridiculed those who do not exercise this franchise — those who say that all politicians are alike. Can we now say that they are wrong? Frustration breeds apathy. Is there still a real choice, or was there ever one?

When you come home to campaign and you inquire how we feel about certain matters, did any of you ask any of us how we would respond to an $8,000 per annum increase in salary?

What do you suppose our reaction would have been? Will you now ask any wage earner to hold the line on his demands to discourage inflation? I would not, if I were you.

Fees going up usually don't drop

To the Editor:

This is in regards to sewage treatment fees going up.

I think it is outrageous to raise them from $1 to $13. I certainly do not know how people with families or low income — $4 to $8 per hour — can do it, plus make house payments.

How about senior citizens on fixed incomes?

This is a good way to discourage business from coming to Granite City. I think we had better stop spending money like it is "going out of style," and think about the people of Granite City.

They say the fees may be reduced in two or three years. Who are they kidding?

Once they are up there, they will never be reduced. CENTER RESIDENT

A public hearing will be held by the state department in its offices at Springfield at 11 a.m. Jan. 16, the county clerk's office was told.

The hearing is scheduled to take evidence which may be pertinent to the department's estimate of the aggregate assessment of locally assessed property, an official said.

The multiplying factor, unless eliminated later by readjustment of various township assessment ratios, is applied against the aggregate assessment to increase valuations in accordance with ratios established on the basis of retail sales.

James Barton, superintendent of assessments, said the multiplier applies only to real estate property. He said his office now will compute township ratios to meet the state requirements for a 1.0 multiplier.

Venice alderman, mayor to be named

Two positions in the Venice city government are to be filled by appointment by the City Council.

First Ward Alderman Thomas Voegelé, 217 Abbott St., announced his resignation effective Tuesday evening due to plans to move from Venice in late January or in February. Mayor William M. Ebersold said Monday he will resign about the first of the year due to health reasons.

A native Venice and lifelong resident, Voegelé was elected to a four-year council term in April 1975. Prior to that, he had served as an alderman by appointment, succeeding Lloyd Patterson. The latter was named city clerk and succeeded Ebersold, the mayor since April 1974.

A replacement for Voegelé wasn't discussed at Tuesday's meeting, but it was indicated informally that the vacancy may be filled by appointment this month as well as being part of next April's ballot.

40 discuss Venice school tax election

About 40 Venice residents attending a brief hearing last night on the Venice School District Dec. 16 tax increase referendum questioned at length what alternative actions the district can take should the 95-cent per $100 assessed valuation rate increase not be approved.

Many of those present were people on fixed incomes, with few people there having children actually attending the Venice schools. It was noted by a board member during the hearing.

Despite this, all indicated an interest in making a major effort to keep the Venice school system going.

Venice Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers gave a brief history of financing problems that have plagued the district for the past four or five years and have resulted in the current bleak outlook related to operating debt.

Questions focused primarily in two areas — why the board is seeking a 95-cent rate increase when this amount apparently won't raise sufficient money and probably will result in another tax referendum in the future, and what can be done should the tax proposal fail.

Vickers said the board decided against seeking a $2 tax

Plates displayed

Illinois motorists began displaying their new multi-year, blue and white license plates, Friday, and Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon notes that the plates are being sold over-the-counter at four banks here as well as secretary of state facilities in Springfield and Chicago.

Before the display deadline of midnight Sunday, Dec. 31, Secretary Dixon said, more than six million sets of license plates will be purchased by Illinois motorists.

The new plates, with validating stickers, are designed to last for at least five years under the new multi-year, staggered registration program instituted by Dixon. It is estimated that the program will save Illinois $21 million, mostly in plate manufacturing costs.

Dixon has reminded Illinois motorists that the new license plate package, whether purchased over-the-counter or by mail from Springfield, will include a small sticker in a plastic bag attached to the back of the vehicle identification card.

"The blue 1979 sticker for those motorists who purchased the short option (less than one year's validation) goes in the upper left-hand corner of the license plate that is attached to the rear of the automobile," Secretary Dixon said.

"The red 1980 sticker given to motorists who purchased the long option (validation for more than one year) goes in the upper right-hand corner of the plate, covering the 79," Dixon said.

After 1980, stickers will be purchased annually at the regular fee of $18 or $30.

While almost half of the plates purchased by Illinois motorists will be dispensed over the counter, many persons requested that their 1978 numbers be reassigned and others requested special numbers.

Such transactions must be carried out by mail through the Springfield offices, with motorists required to send in their applications and fees prior to Sept. 30 of each year.

"As a result of our desire to fulfill every motorist's request as nearly possible — because the plates will be on cars for at least five years — our office has been swamped," Dixon said.

"We received 325,000 additional special requests for plates — 1.7 million compared to 1.4 million last year."

"Our workers in Springfield are going night and day to put license plates in the mail so they may be delivered to the public by the deadline," Dixon said.

"The pace is slowed by the necessity of manually placing stickers on the back of the identification cards."

"As of today, we have mailed 738,504 pairs of plates. This time last year, we had mailed slightly more than one million," Dixon said.

"Because the plates are made of much more durable material and are almost three ounces per pair heavier than the 1978 plates, postal deliveries may be somewhat slower," Dixon said.

"These heavier five-year plates also are costing 37.9 cents to mail against 29.4 cents last year."

"But now we are saving 56 cents a pair by doing our own zip-code-sorting and we will not have this massive plate mailing cost again for at least another five years."

"However, every Illinois motorist who ordered license plates within a reasonable time frame for delivery will receive plates before any deadline is imposed."

Arrest teen at parked car

Peter M. Carbone, 17, of 2613 Center St., was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville Thursday after pleading innocent to burglary, a curfew violation and possession of cannabis before Circuit Judge William Beatty in Granite City.

The auto of Walter Gorman, 2648 Center St., was broken into at 2:20 a.m. Wednesday in front of Gorman's home. Gorman said he heard noises, looked out the front window and saw a teenager next to his car.

Gorman got dressed to check why the youth was there, heard a crash and found the driver's window to his car broken. He called police, who took a damage report.

As the squad car drove away, a teenager went to Gorman's auto, and allegedly got in and started shining a flashlight around the interior. The owner detained the youth until officers returned.

Police alleged finding a small bag of cannabis in a pocket.

Robber gets $50 at station

An armed robber held up the attendant at the Clark Service Station, 3051 Nameoki Road, at 2:40 a.m. Sunday and escaped with approximately $50 taken from the attendant and the station.

Keith Moran told police the man walked into the station holding a small blue-steel revolver. He said the man was about six feet tall, had long reddish hair, was of slim build and wore a green Army coat and blue jeans.

He first asked Moran if he had a gun and repeated the question several times while demanding money.

He took about $27 from the station attendant and approximately $23 in cash and coins from the back room of the office. He left on foot, going south on Nameoki Road.

Moran came out of the station and told three customers he had been robbed. Two in an auto left the scene to follow the robber, but could not find him, it was reported.

Technical writing classes

(SUIE News Service) Once a college student completes English composition requirements, is the person prepared to effectively communicate in writing, the expectations of his chosen field?

George Soule, assistant professor in the SUIE department of English language and literature, doesn't think so and says his department offers two courses in advanced technical writing.

The first, Technical Writing-English 325, applies basic writing skills to such subjects as science, mathematics, medicine, education and engineering. It is an advanced course designed to develop the student's capability to analyze, collect and organize facts and data within his chosen field of study.

Soule said the student is introduced to research methods and methods of analysis and is taught to write memoranda, letters and common work forms which he may need to complete in technical jobs. The recommended prerequisites for English 325 are GSK 101 and GSK 102. The class was designed for college sophomores.

The second course, Research Report Writing-English 410, addresses fundamentals of preparing a thesis, major paper or research report and presents an introduction to the use of research tools, methods of information gathering and the analysis, classification and development of materials.

Soule said, "This course is being developed to accommodate related fields of study at one time. For example, we want to gather students in related fields, such as chemists, biologists and nurses, into the class section."

"This will facilitate the use of a common language and common practices among these students and their fields of study. In the past, we've had a hodgepodge of students from different fields," the instructor said.

"We've made arrangements with different departments on campus to work around their schedules and gather students with similar interests at one time."

English 410 will be offered in the winter quarter on Tuesdays from 6:30 to 9:20 p.m. in Peck Hall, Room 3311. The only prerequisite is that a student must be of junior standing (96 quarter hours) at the university.

English 325 will be offered in the winter quarter, Monday through Thursday, from 1:30 to 2:20 p.m. in Peck, Room 3316.

Open registration for winter quarter classes is scheduled today and Jan. 2.

Granite City received $7,413, Madison $1,010, Venice $485 and Pontoon Beach $1,230, Portell announced.

Granite City had topped the list among fines collected for cities several months, but slipped below Alton in the latest distribution. Alton had $15,439 in fines distributed and Granite City was second.

The county government received $35,888, state overweight fines amounted to $27,418, the Illinois Commerce Commission received $2,015 and the Department of Conservation was given $279 from the fines collected by the court.

Assaulted in purse theft attempt here

A teenage boy fled after knocking a 58-year-old Myrtle Avenue woman down in the parking lot of Nameoki Village Shopping Center and trying unsuccessfully to steal her purse at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

The victim said she parked her car near the bingo facility and was walking toward the building when the teen ran to her and grabbed her purse, knocking her down. She screamed and he fled on foot toward Tri-Mor Bowl.

Witnesses said a teen named William was seen running who got into a car with a young couple and they drove from the scene. The assailant was described as having medium-length dark hair over his ears and wearing a dark coat and blue jeans. The victim was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for multiple abrasions to both arms and hands, her right knee and cheek and her left foot. X-rays were taken and she was released.

Arrest youth in theft at store

A 17-year-old employee of K-Mart Store and an apparent friend were seen moving various items to the rear of the store near the lumber department last week and one was arrested when he attempted to take the items after the store closed.

Articles found included a RCA radio, television, Emerson radio, Panasonic radio, three eight-track blank tapes, and two cassette players valued at $297.

The youth was released to his parents on $402 bond by order of Judge William McQuinn. A warrant was to be issued for the alleged accomplice, according to police.

Construction degree, study center okayed

Two new units of instruction — research — public service were approved for SUIE Tuesday by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Meeting in Chicago, the IBHE approved a bachelor of science degree program with a major in construction. And it authorized the university's Academic Resource Center, which has been created from an existing unit, the Supplemental Instruction Program.

University officers said the objective of the major in construction is to prepare students for work in the building industry by combining basic scientific courses with courses in business and engineering practices and procedures.

The curriculum includes chemistry, physics, mathematics, accounting, finance, economics and most aspects of the construction trades. By the fifth year of the program, 115 majors and 25 graduates are anticipated.

The Southern Illinois Builders Association has authorized a commitment of $15,000 each year for a three-year period toward the funding of a professorship. The university is requesting $18,000 in new state appropriations for the 1979-80 fiscal year, mostly for an additional faculty position.

University officials explained that the Academic Resource Center originated as a program to assist support minority and disadvantaged students. The change in name reflects an expansion of services to a wider university population.

The center will attempt to focus on special assistance aspects of the program by strengthening the counseling program, increasing involvement in academic and career development, and providing financial assistance information. It will coordinate all university special assistance efforts.

Paul Clineard, master counselor, announced at the meeting that the DeMolays and their families will attend the 10:20 a.m. church service on Sunday Dec. 10 at St. John's United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road.

They are to gather at the church at 10 o'clock. He also said the officers will confer the initiatory and DeMolay degrees on candidates at the next regular meeting Dec. 10. ### Services to families spotlighted

The Family Counseling Center is among those observing "Family Service Day."

Since their inception over 100 years ago, family service agencies have traditionally been dedicated to supporting and strengthening the family unit through health care, counseling and help with specialized problems. They have also played a role in bringing to public awareness such issues as battered children or spouses, incest, rape and the special problems of the elderly, a spokesman said.

There are currently 40 agencies in the auspices of the Illinois Association of Family Service Agencies, an organization that acts as advocate for families, for the voluntary sector and for member agencies, to protect the quality and accountability of these services.

Although most of the state agencies share membership in the Illinois association, each family service agency is a private, not-for-profit organization supported by the United Way, various foundations, individual donors and other funding sources.

They were founded and are operated by citizens who comprise volunteer boards of directors. In addition to setting policy and determining the business of their agencies, board members assess their community's needs and help devise programs which will address those needs.

In signing the Family Service Day proclamation, Gov. James R. Thompson commented, "The work that the family service associations are doing in Illinois remain a major contribution to the American tradition—citizens helping each other in times of need."

Rodney A. St. Clair, president of the Illinois Association of Family Service Agencies, said as he witnessed the proclamation, "Of the member agencies now serving the public in local communities, some have been doing this work since 1857."

The Family Counseling Center has been serving this region since 1957.

Services at the Center include individual, marital, family and group counseling, family life education, and a speakers' bureau available to civic organizations. The Family Counseling Center has offices at 5109 N. Illinois, Belleville, and 2021 Edison Ave., Granite City.

Cost containment award at hospital

The first award in St. Elizabeth Hospital's new cost containment program has gone to Lisa C. Jackson, chief histotechnologist. She received $500 for her suggestion in the Histology Department of the hospital laboratory.

Histology, a new service that St. Elizabeth recently added to its laboratory, involves processing and analysis of tissues.

Through her histology experience at other institutions, Lisa Jackson was able to suggest ideas that helped the development of the service at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The cost containment program was designed to encourage all hospital associates to suggest ways to eliminate waste and cut costs.

Paul Rackiewicz, St. Elizabeth vice-president and chairman of the Cost Containment Committee, said, "We are proud of Lisa and all of our associates who have submitted cost containment suggestions. We're trying to keep hospital costs down by considering all suggestions that come to us."

LISA C. JACKSON

"If a proposal is accepted," he said, "the associate who suggested it is awarded a 10 percent share in the savings, up to $1,000."

Varied proposals are currently under consideration by the committee. All are aimed at reducing hospital, and consequently, patient costs.

Rackiewicz said, "We will be pleased with the dollars we save without abridging the finest grade of health care that is the right of every human being."

Girl Scout week set March 11-17

With the advent of the International Year of the Child 1979, the United Nations asked that each government mobilize active grassroots programs on behalf of children.

It is, therefore, considered important that a youth organization such as Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., celebrating its 67th anniversary on March 11 to 17, be supported in its "Find the Gift in Every Child" festival, Pat Schaefer, chairman, added.

The council added, "Every child has the gift of hope, of joy and love to give, and it's easy to find if only one looks. Encouraging the potential gifts, the talents and abilities inherent in each child is what Girl Scouting is all about."

To assist neighborhood associations in planning and promoting Girl Scout Week activities, radio representatives, press representatives and neighborhood chairmen will receive a Girl Scout Week kit prior to Jan. 1. The kit will include instructions on how to plan and promote a "Find the Gift in Every Child" festival, Pat Schaefer, chairman, added.

Witnesses saw two teenage boys in the back yard about 5 p.m. Tuesday. One was about 5 feet, 11 inches tall, overweight and having black, shoulder-length hair. The second had a medium-length brown hair, police were told.

A window had been removed from its frame to gain entry to Schildman's home. He is to report any other items discovered missing from the home.

American Federation of Musicians Local 717.

Nelson Hagnauer, township supervisor, said ambulatory residents and those confined to wheelchairs from the two nursing facilities in Granite City and the Madison County Nursing Home, Edwardsville, have been invited to attend the ball.

Buses will be provided for senior citizens who are unable to arrange for their own transportation to the event, Hagnauer said.

He cautioned, however, those needing a ride to the township center Dec. 20 to call 877-8584 as soon as possible.

A bus to be used that night is equipped to handle ball patrons in wheelchairs.

Wrestlers up, 37-18

Steelers swamp East

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City North Steeler wrestlers stayed true to form here Tuesday night against Belleville East. They cruised to an early lead by totally dominating the lighter weights and then hung on for the victory. The final score was 37-18.

"I thought we'd probably win at least the first five weights," said North Coach Walt Whitaker. "But I wasn't too sure about anything after that."

"But instead, we won the first seven weights and also won a heavier weight division."

That heavier class win by

North was at 185 pounds where Steeler Mike Painter made light-work of his bout with East's Steve Maxer, pinning him a chance to win," said Whitaker. "Their (East's) 185 was supposed to be pretty good, but Mike's coming along very well."

Another North victory came at the 98 pound class where Gerald Miller downed highly-touted Mike Geller 10-5. "Geller's supposed to be one of the best," Whitaker said. "But I wasn't concerned at all about it. I knew Miller could handle him."

Other North wins came at 105 pounds where Russ

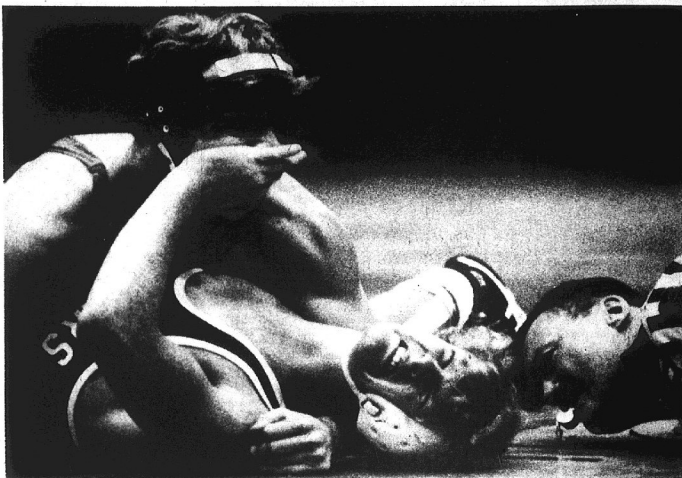

Grasso decisioned Jim Tiemann 4-0; 112 where Bob Kirgan easily pinned Rich Northcut in 47 seconds and at 119 where Tracy Patton was awarded a forfeit win.

At 126 pounds, Alan Kirgan of North defeated John Vernier 13-0. Greg Shermwell decisioned Chris Steele 14-1 at 132 and Kevin Shermwell beat East's Eddie Brydon 6-0 at 138.

East's Mark Sullivan got the first East Lancer points at 145 pounds when he decisioned Bruce Uzonoff of North 13-5. Tracy Smith of East dominated Steeler Doug Sheppard 22-0, and Mike Caffery of East downed North's Tom Nance 6-0 at 167. The other Lancer points came at the heavyweight level where Gary Howell beat Steeler Al Sullivan with a pin in 1:42.

The Steelers ended the evening by taking wins in three of the four divisions (freshman, sophomore, junior varsity and varsity). The North junior varsity won 42-18, the freshmen took East 47-18, while the sophomores fell 1-1; the Lancers 36-25. A list of North winners at those levels appears in today's Scoreboard.

NOSE JOB. Granite City North wrestler Doug Sheppard (bottom) seems to be giving Belleville East's Tracy Smith the brush-off Tuesday night during the North victory over the Lancers. Even though the referee is watching closely for a pin, Sheppard was not nailed down, but he did lose his bout. (Press-Record photo by Pat Hayes)

Warrior icemen blast McCluer Senior, 4-1

By DOUG IRVIN for the Press-Record
BRENTWOOD, Mo. — The Warrior's stickmen, Saturday night, defeated the Comets of McCluer at the Dellwood Ice Rink by a score of 4-1. The entire South bench got the opportunity to play. Backup goalie, Chris Hintenser, played for two periods and allowed only one goal.

"Chris is a very good little goalie," commented his coach, Harold Dix. Hintenser is a freshman and will be one of the leading players in the future as he still has three seasons after this one.

"The kids are starting to use their heads to pass — they're coming along," said assistant coach Bill McFarland.

"Putting their heads together," is right. The first goal came just 2:00 into the game, which consists of three 14 minute periods. Darron Bridick, assisted by Tim Dix and Todd McFarland, took credit for the goal. One and a half minutes later, Andy Costello made the score 2-0. He was assisted by Ron Markarian.

Still in the first period, South went on top 3-0 on a shot by George Whaley. Whaley's shot was assisted by Pat Theis and McFarland.

It wasn't until half way through the second frame of the game when the Comets scored. Their only point came off the stick of Rob Abbott from Terry Bruns and Scott Hargis, 3-1.

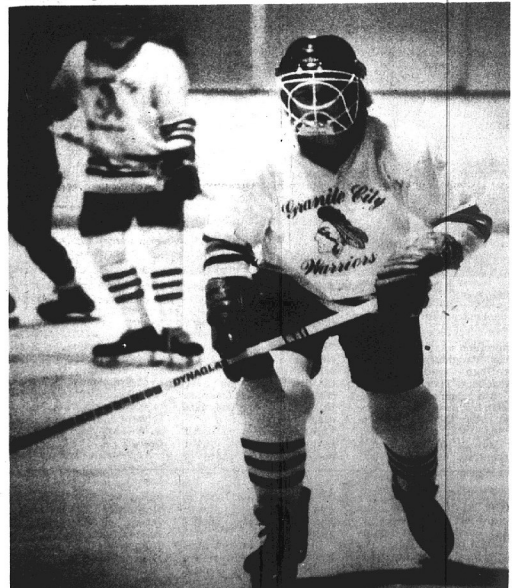

Three minutes into the closing period, Markarian added South's final goal of the night with assists from Mike Hassler and Tim Phelps, 4-1. The young Warrior team outshot their opponents 32-19.

The South squad should have a very good season this year. They, on their roster, have eight seniors, two juniors, eight sophomores, and six freshmen.

Saturday night, they do battle against Hazelwood East at the North County Rink. Face off time is set for 8:15 p.m.

Jakich to step down

Special to the Press-Record
MADISON — Madison High School head football coach Nick Jakich, who last season guided the gridiron Trojans to their first winning record in four years, announced today that he is submitting his resignation to the Madison Board of Education at its regular meeting tonight.

According to Jakich, he leaves with the feeling that he "has accomplished all that is possible within the Madison school system." Jakich's resignation as coach, according to him, would be effective immediately. It would not, however, effect his status as a teacher at MHS. He said he plans to stay on as a teacher at the school.

Two years ago, Jakich stepped in shortly before the start of school to become head coach at the last minute before the season, which ended a dismal 0-9 for the Trojans. But last season, with more ample time to work, Jakich guided the Trojans to a winning season's record of 5-4. This past season, MHS ended an injury-racked season with a 3-6 record. Jakich had recently been under criticism by some members of the Madison school board.

More details of the resignation will be available in Monday's Press-Record.

'Y' wrestling set

GRANITE CITY — The Tri-City Area YMCA will hold registration for its wrestling program this Saturday, Dec. 9 for youngsters in the seventh and eighth grades. The program is also open to those in the third through sixth grades, and those interested may still sign-up for that age group. The registration Saturday is set for 11 a.m.

Lessons are held on Mondays and Wednesdays at the YMCA gymnasium. Third through sixth grade lessons are given from 4 to 5 p.m. and seventh and eighth grade lessons from 5 to 6 p.m.

Wrestling instructor Steve Garland is also planning a wrestling team which would compete with other area YMCA teams. Those interested should contact Garland at the YMCA or YMCA Program Director Don Rains.

The local YMCA wrestling program returns after an absence of about five years. However, the program has been responsible for the development of many of Granite City's finest high school and college wrestlers.

The charge for YMCA members is $4. For non-members, it is $12 for the course.

Area hoopsters back in action

GRANITE CITY — All four Quad-Cities prep basketball teams will be in action this weekend, after a week-long layoff.

Tomorrow at 4 p.m., the annual battle between Madison and Venice will take place at Venice High School. There will be no junior varsity game.

Madison is standing in with a 3-1 record after falling to powerful East St. Louis Senior by 10 points last week, while Venice is 0-2 and looking for its first victory.

Also tomorrow night, Granite City High School South will try to improve its 3-0 record to 4-0 when it travels to Quincy Notre Dame and a battle in the infamous "pit," at QND's gym is known. South is coming off the championship of the Red Hill Tournament in Bridgeport, Ill. Granite City North will not play Friday.

Saturday night, North and South each have games, while Madison and Venice are idle. North will try for its first victory (the Steelers are 0-2) when it travels to Alton (junior varsity 6:30, varsity 8). South will have its first home game Saturday night when the Warriors host Belleville West (JV 6:30).

The Sporting Thing

By Pete Hayes
Sports Editor

Ice hockey . . . here?

GRANITE CITY — Well-rounded sports programs. That's what we've got right here in the Quad-Cities. Just look at them . . .

One of the best youth league and high school soccer programs in the nation . . .

A baseball program, both Little League, high school, and Inter-City League that's a model for others . . .

A Park District which is copied year after year by other cities across the country wanting to upgrade their own . . .

A football program which, year in and year out, provides stiff opposition . . .

Basketball programs at the high school level which has seen two state championships in the past five years and three all together . . .

And now . . . ice hockey!

Can you imagine? Way down here, where the only ice you see in most areas is in a glass, we have high school hockey.

The people who got together to help form the new South club hockey team should be commended. Although too numerous to name, they have worked hard to provide yet another means for our youth to enjoy a sport and at the same time learn something.

It should be noted that most of the time by the coaches and advisors is volunteer. Since it's club hockey, they're not paid a dime. That's dedication!

A familiar name missing

Tuesday night, I saw one of those above-mentioned excellent sports programs we've got here in Granite . . . the wrestling program.

The version I witnessed in action Tuesday was the GCIS North one. The Stealers, as usual, dominated the early going in the match-up with Belleville East. And, as usual, they won.

But some familiar names were missing from the scene. Whelan.

Kris Whelan has graduated from North and is wrestling as a freshman at Missouri U. with his older brother, Keith, another North grad. Their father, Bob, recently left Granite City for the wintry (not unlike today) climate of Michigan where he has a job as teacher and head wrestling coach at a high school. He took with him his son, Pat, who showed great promise last year as a member of the wrestling team at North.

The Whelans will be missed. Good luck to 'em.

A new feature coming

Starting Monday in Press-Record Sports, a new feature will appear. "Scouting the Preps" will be printed from time to time to keep Quad-City readers informed as to what other prep basketball schools (besides our own) are doing . . . not only in the immediate area, but throughout the state as well, in both Class A and AA.

BEAT WINTER WORRIES

Cougars fall to Bearcats 93-89

CLOSE QUARTERS. SIUE's Keil Peebles (right) drives last night in Lebanon against McKendree. The Cougars lost 93-89.

LEBANON — The SIUE basketball Cougars suffered their third defeat of the season here last night . . . and it came in typical fashion.

The Cougars fell to area rival McKendree 93-89 after leading throughout most of the first half and holding a 47-41 lead at halftime on the Bearcats.

But McKendree made five straight unanswered baskets at the beginning of the second half and that was that. Ray Mosby's driving layup basket just four minutes into the half gave the Bearcats a 53-51 lead and they were never behind again after that.

Former Venice star Mike Henry led all scorers with 24 points, while SIUE's Bill Branz and Keil Peebles topped the Cougars with 22 points each.

Other scorers for SIUE were Lawrence Brown two points, Jerome (Baby Face) Nelson 12, Bennie Lewis 13, Greg Payne 2, Jim Allen 2, Victor Dozier 10 and Ron Jones 2. Granite Cityan Mike Waldo played but did not score.

For McKendree, besides Henry's 24, other scorers were Rod Jobst 12 points, Mosby 19, Barry Cox 11, Gary Haverman 22, Kurt Klein 3 and Bob Haida 2.

The Bearcats had 41 field goals, 11 free throws and 19 personal fouls. SIUE made 38 field goals, 13 free throws and had 18 personal fouls.

Spectator fined $100

GRANITE CITY — A fan who allegedly attacked and struck a youth soccer referee has been fined $100 here Monday in Granite City Court.

The man, David Tindell

Helen Bjorkman, a GC pioneer

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — When Helen Bjorkman came to Granite City she fell in love with the place. Now, some 30 or so years later, she is still in love. Bjorkman, who makes no qualms about it, will soon turn 70. But she says there's still a lot of good left in her.

She recently was honored by the Granite City Park District for 25 years of dedicated service to the Park District and to the city of Granite City.

Quite frankly, Bjorkman just about started the Park District program in this city. She was here when the whole thing began.

"When I came here, I wanted to work in the recreation program," she said. "I had two young children at the time, so I wanted to be sure there was a recreation program."

But alas, there was none in Granite City then. So, one was formed. "I was there a year before Harold Brown came," said Bjorkman. "I guess that gives you some idea of how long it's been."

How does one go about forming a Park District recreation program? "Trial and error," trial and error," said Bjorkman. "But I'll tell you this, it was absolutely the most wonderful experience I've ever had."

"Working with those kids is something I'll never forget."

At that time, Granite City children could use playgrounds, swim, fish and have various contests in the summer program. Those kids included Bjorkman's own children, Linda and Brett. Linda now heads the United Way in New Jersey and Brett lives in Detroit.

Many a late night has been spent by Bjorkman in the Park District offices. Not only from 9 to 5, but many late-night hours as well. Not only did she handle some of the administrative chores (paper work, etc.), she helped form, organize and teach several park district adult programs.

Among the many Park District programs she helped form were the Slimettes, Round-Up, and the popular Junior Olympics during the summer for children from the various recreation centers.

Bjorkman also served as a teacher of physical education in the Granite City grade schools (Stallings, Nameoki and Mitchell) until a heart attack in 1974 forced an early retirement. As an instructor, she was named to many state-wide as well as national committees on recreation and physical education.

Also among her activities as a teacher was the formation of the International Federation of Teachers (IFA). She believed then and still does, in the idea of hiring a teacher on the basis of qualifications instead of "who they are."

Bjorkman said she believed the Granite City School District has performed well in that respect. But she doesn't hold the same regard for the Park District. "The whole thing is so political now, it's sickening," she said. "People aren't hired in the Park District on the basis of what they can do, they're hired on the basis of who they are or whose son or daughter they are."

Bjorkman said she is somewhat bitter about the way she was given "raw recruits" in the summer recreation programs.

"They wouldn't ask me for a recommendation," she said. "Instead, they'd just throw an art major or a history major at me and say, 'Here Helen, you mold them.'"

Bjorkman said that qualifications come second to some members of the Park District Board. "There wasn't, and there still isn't any follow-up on the recreation program," she said. "They hire these people and then don't do any follow-up on their progress or what they're doing," she said.

Bjorkman, even when she was young, knew she wanted to be a teacher. "My mother went to a strict Catholic school," said Bjorkman. "And her ambition was for all four of her daughters to go to college and become teachers. They all did."

"Everyone seemed to assume I retired," she said. "But that's far from the truth. No one ever really asked if I wanted to stay on or not. They just assumed."

"But I'm not going to just lie back, you know. Right now I'm getting ready to teach at Belleville Area College extension course in square dancing at Frohndart School. The rest of my spare time I'm going to donate to the Senior Citizens Center."

"You know, I'm far from dead."

You'd better believe that.

Cochran likes to feel needed...not used

By KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY. Most people like to feel they're needed in their jobs. But Bill Cochran, the athletic trainer at Granite City North, would be happy if he never has to contribute his services.
"If no one gets hurt, no one knows you're there," said Cochran. "It suits me just fine if I never have to do anything, but I'm always ready to do my job."
Because of the nature of athletics, where physical contact and collisions are a matter of course, injuries are bound to occur. Cochran's job is to first, try to prepare athletes to prevent injury, then, if someone does get hurt, he is responsible for their convalescence.

Cochran works with the coaches to develop muscle stretching and building programs, warm up procedures, and cardiovascular building drills, in order to avoid injuries. But the trainer's efforts are only as effective as the coach's attitude. "If a coach and a trainer cooperate, the trainer can set up the programs and lessen the chances of injury, but I don't go up to them and tell them how to train," said Cochran.
Cochran has been taping, massaging, twisting and advising high school athletes in Granite City for the past five years. In that time, he has worked in various combinations with both schools. This year he works mainly for North. He also does some training for South in tournaments and for some freshmen teams.

Next June, Cochran expects to receive his certification from the National Athletic Trainers Association. To qualify for the certificate he had to complete a 1800-hour apprenticeship with Randy Biggerstaff, former trainer in Granite City, complete the required college course work, and receive the backing of Biggerstaff and Dr. G. T. Wilkins, team physician at the high school.
Cochran holds a bachelor degree from Southern Illinois University Edwardsville in education, P.E., and health, and although he currently works at American Steel in Granite City during the day, he says, "The pot at the end of the rainbow is for me to teach and be the trainer at North. Right now American Steel supports me and my family, but training is my love."

In his capacity as trainer, Cochran said the most frequent injuries he encounters are muscle and joint disorders. These categories include sprained ankles, broken bones, muscle pulls and tears, bruises and ligament damage. The most hazardous sport, according to the trainer is football because of the frequent number of collisions.
High school athletics, even football, in Cochran's opinion do not represent excessive danger of injury to the athlete. "We feel that with the equipment issued, and in Granite City its the best, and with flexibility and cardiovascular training, sports are pretty safe."
That would indicate that there are a lot of trainers making sports safe for young athletes, right? Not in this state. According to Cochran, there are only about ten regular trainers in Illinois, and of that number, only three work in towns south of Peoria.

In sports programs outside of schools, where even younger children face the possibility of injury, the situation is even worse. "I once was asked to speak at clinics for little league coaches in Edwardsville," Cochran said. "There could be others, but this is the only thing like that I've ever heard of."
A combination of problems contribute to this situation, said Cochran. Among them are a lack of money and lack of trainers. "Obviously, the more knowledge someone has the better off their program will be, but limited personnel — that's the problem. Trainers are not a large commodity," he said.

The scarcity of athletic trainers may be a problem for the present, however. Cochran said the field is growing rapidly. Girls sports is especially an area of large growth. "The number of girls who take the test to become trainers is equal or greater than the number of men," said Cochran. "And here at North, there have been more girls than boys working as assistant trainers in the last few years."

Even though the demand for trainers includes colleges and professional sports, Cochran has no ambitions toward these areas. "I'm happy right where I am," he said. "I like teaching and being around high school kids. I enjoy the atmosphere here. The coaches teach these kids well and there are very few problems." Cochran's sentiments are shared by the athletes he serves. For the last two years Cochran has been presented a plaque in appreciation of his services by the soccer team.
These are the things Cochran likes the best in his work. "The best part of my job is the words thank you," he said. I do it because I enjoy athletics, but if the kids appreciate my help then it's all the better."

Debra Louise Bathon weds Merle Castellini

St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison was the scene of the wedding of Miss Debra Louise Bathon, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bathon, 2031 Fifth St., Madison, and Army Private Merle "Butch" Castellini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Castellini, 2001 Rhodes St., Madison.

Burning tapers in branch candelabra, accented with satin bows, illuminated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony performed by Father Ralph Scherrer at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Altar bouquets were arrangements of white gladiolus and blue and white pom poms.

Organist James Havranek accompanied Mrs. Louise Lewis as she sang "You Light Up My Life," "We've Only Just Begun," "Evergreen," and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal white organza gown fashioned in an Empire silhouette. The high neckline was trimmed with Cluny lace and a sheer embroidered yoke was etched with pearls. Lace motifs were repeated on the long sleeves and cuffs.

A deep double ruffle flounce encircled her semi full skirt which extended into a full sweep train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged in lace and secured to a lace cap. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses tinted blue, white elegance carnations and baby's breath intermingled with ivy.

Miss Cindy Buckman, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Jamie Boyer, sister of the bride, Miss Vicky Paterson and Miss Cathy Isbill, served as bridesmaids.

The selected identical floor length dresses in Romance blue organza designed with an open neckline enhanced with a double ruffle. Their softly flowing skirts were bordered at the hemline with self fabric flounces that were draped to the back and secured with a matching rose, at the waistline creating an apron effect.

Each attendant held an arrangement of bridal roses with blue carnations and dark blue roses tied with blue ribbons.

A niece of the bride, Julie Fernandez, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a blue frock similar to the adult attendants and she carried a small basket of carnations and baby's breath.

Attending the groom as best man was his uncle, Frank Ensor, Groomsmen and ushers included Phil Boyer, the bride's brother-in-law, Danny Collins, Doug Lawrence, Ed Buckman, and Jim Menzies, uncle of the bride and groom, respectively.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bathon chose a full length apricot polyester gown fashioned with a lace bodice and matching full length lace coat with bishop sleeves.

She wore a corsage of apricot roses. The groom's mother was attired in a floor length powder blue polyester gown with long sleeves and her corsage was composed of the roses.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held at the Moose Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Castellini, parents of the groom, hosted the rehearsal dinner.

The couple are now residing at Fort Bragg, N. C., after a wedding trip to Rock City, Tenn. The former Miss Bathon graduated in 1977 from Madison High School and was employed as typist for civil service. Her husband was graduated from Madison High School and is serving with the U.S. Army.

MR. MRS. DUANE PARRISH. They exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony in St. Boniface Catholic Church, St. Louis. Formerly Susan M. Sambo, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Sambo, 7714 Michigan Ave., St. Louis.

Susan M. Sambo bride of Duane Lee Parrish

The wedding of Miss Susan M. Sambo, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Sambo, 7714 Michigan Ave., St. Louis, and Duane L. Parrish, a son of Mr. and Mrs. David D. Parrish, 2544 Waterman Ave., was solemnized on Oct. 14, at St. Boniface Catholic Church, St. Louis.

Father Aloysius F. Rocklage officiated at the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, before an altar adorned with arrangements of white gladiolus, pom poms and blue carnations. Blue silk flowers and white bows accented the unity candles and pews were marked with white roses and shepherds.

Organist Jack Jenkins accompanied the soloist Mrs. Lois A. Bilibrey. Selections included "Evergreen," "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length white polyester A-line style gown fashioned with chiffon sleeves and Cluny lace cuffs. Matching lace was repeated on the collar and on the hemline of the detachable floor length train.

Her cathedral veil of illusion was also bordered in Cluny lace and she carried a cascade of duchess roses, cushion poms intermingled with silk begonia, lily of the valley and blue silk roses accented with ribbons.

Maid of honor was Miss Jane Gremp and bridesmaids included Mrs. Karen Randolph, a sister of the bride, Miss Vickie Pfadenhauer and Miss Judy Parrish, the groom's sister.

They selected identical blue silesta gown designed with blouse bodices and flowing skirts enhanced with tie belts at the waistline.

Each attendant wore silk roses and baby's breath in their hair and held nosegays of maize carnations, pom poms, silk bachelor buttons and yellow roses.

Barbara Sambo, a sister of the bride, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a blue frock to match the adult attendants and she carried a miniature nosegay of yellow carnations silk bachelor buttons and yellow silk roses.

Kyle Schumacher, the groom's cousin, was the ringbearer.

Attending the groom as best man was Nick Barrack, Tom Mitchell, Rich and David Sambo, brothers of the bride, Ken Simon and Mike Randolph, the bride's brother-in-law, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

The newly married couple received guests at a reception given in the church hall after the service. The rehearsal dinner was held at the Flaming Pit Restaurant in St. Louis.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sambo chose a full length mint polyester knit sleeveless gown, with a diamond shape braid of pearls accenting the Empire waistline, complemented with a matching long sleeve jacket with a standup collar.

GC district candidate for Natl. school board award

Granite City School District 9 has been selected as Illinois' candidate for the National School Board Association's annual School Board Award of the Year, it was announced Tuesday.

Notice of the selection was received by B. J. Davis, Granite City school district superintendent, from Dr. Harold P. Seaman, executive director of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

The Granite City district will represent Illinois in the category based on student enrollment between 5,000 and 19,000. Five other categories based on varying enrollment figures, also will be considered in selection of award winners.

Granite City was selected by the Illinois Association from among six districts in the 5,000 to 19,000 category that were nominated.

Criteria for selection included: School board support for—and involvement with—the local community; school board support for—and involvement in—state and national school board associations and other organizations promoting local control and public education; board-staff relationships; educational programs meeting unique needs of local community; quality of long range planning and policy development; community support of local schools, and demonstrated board commitment to high-quality schools.

Selected school boards and their superintendents in the six categories will be honored guests at the NSBA Convention. A plaque will be presented to each board president in a general session at the national convention.

Supt. Davis said, "This is a tribute to our local board of education and the fine job the members do for our community."

Eve reviews all 22 of her personalities

I'M EVE
By Christine Sizemore
with Elen Sain Pittillo
(New York: Harcourt, Brace Jovanovich, 1978)
Reviewed by David Butler
SIUE Department of English

It would be convenient — but not accurate — to say that the popular book and Joanne Woodward movie of the fifties, "The Three Faces of Eve," told only half the story.

Actually, they told less than one-seventh of the story because Christine Costner Sizemore existed not just as three separate personalities — but as 22.

She has now written her own biography or, should I say, 22 biographies. Chris Sizemore has been the subject of many newspaper and magazine articles, several books, and countless lectures and demonstrations at professional psychiatry sessions. But "I'm Eve" is her own account of her incredible life as she experienced it.

Oddly, however, and no pun intended, this autobiography is written in third person. The ghost writer is Dr. Elen Sain Pittillo, Chris's double first cousin and one of her alter egos.

Mrs. Sizemore feels that earlier accounts of her life wrongly assigned "blame" for her illness on her parents and claimed prematurely that her troubles were over. She is not certain herself, even at age 50, that she is "cured."

After years of keeping her identity as the victim of a multiple personality (dissociative reaction) a secret, Chris Sizemore has come out of the closet.

The reader is privileged to witness this process, to howl with laughter at the Tom-and-Huck-like escapades of Chris's and Elen's childhood, to empathize with Chris's traumatic life experiences and, most of all, to admire her courage.

"I'm Eve" is a fascinating book.

Economy, quality emphasis at BAC

A report just issued by the Illinois Community College Board indicates that Belleville Area College's unit cost of instruction is the fourth lowest of the state's 38 community college systems outside the Chicago city colleges.

Unit cost at BAC during 1977-78 fiscal year was $53.60, compared to the state average of $58.05.

Only Joliet ($53.55), Illinois Eastern ($43.88) and Southeastern ($52.20) were lower than Belleville. Dr. William R. Keel, president of the college, in discussing the unit cost study, noted, "This reflects efforts that the college has made to live within its income."

"It isn't necessarily good that our costs were as low as they were, since we had to cut some needed equipment and program innovations from our budget."

"But the study does show," he continues, "that we are trying hard to live within our means."

"Our Board of Trustees has always been committed to a balanced budget and we continue to operate in the black."

"I believe our administrators and faculty are to be commended on the way they have tightened their belts and continued to provide quality education with the stringent budget we have to work with."

Unit cost figures indicate what the college spends to deliver one semester hour of instruction. In other reports, this is broken down to include everything from library services to administrative costs.

Community colleges are presently under a funding formula which differentiates between categories of instruction and provides a different scale of state reimbursement for such categories as vocational, technical, baccalaureate, remedial-developmental, general studies and the like.

ILLINOIS BELL TO BEGIN CHARGING FOR DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE.
SPRINGFIELD. The Illinois Commerce Commission today handed down its rate decision allowing the telephone company to charge for excess calls to Directory Assistance. The phone company has long maintained that Among other changes in our rates, Illinois Bell will begin a two-year trial of charging for heavy use of local Directory Assistance early in January, 1979.

But chances are, you won't be charged extra.

Because our studies show that most Illinois Bell customers only use Directory Assistance when they can't find the number they want in their directory.

In fact, very few people are actually heavy users of Directory Assistance. So only those who call more than 8 times per month will be charged extra.

Because it's that kind of frequent use that helps drive the cost of this service up. To almost $70 million annually.

And it seems only fair that those who use Directory Assistance the most should be the ones who pay extra to maintain the service.

Here's how the new charging plan will work.

Starting in January, 1979, the first 8 calls to Directory Assistance from each line in a given monthly billing period won't cost extra. After 8 calls, they'll cost 20¢ each. Twenty cents is about what it costs Illinois Bell to handle the call.

In addition, customers will get a 25¢ credit each month per telephone line.

Business customers with Private Branch Exchange (PBX) or Centrex will be charged in a slightly different way. These customers will receive specific information about their charges in the mail.

But there are exceptions.

1. If you're physically unable to look up numbers in your directory, you won't have to pay extra for calling Directory Assistance. Ask your Illinois Bell service representative to send you an exemption form to fill out and mail back in.

2. If you call from any coin telephone, you won't be charged extra.
3. The same goes for all calls from telephones in hospitals, hotels and motels.

4. The same also goes for calls to a Long Distance Directory Assistance operator in a different area code.

Here's what we've learned.

From the experience of other telephone companies, we know that, once a plan is in effect, only about 6% of residential customers will end up paying extra in any given month.

And 94% won't be affected at all.

'Winterize' driving habits for safer winter season

By PAT FOLEY
Press-Record Staff Writer
Winter is upon us in the Quad-City area and much of the country, and now is the time to "winterize" our cars and our driving habits to make this winter a safer one for ourselves and our fellow motorists.

One person who is trying to reach people with winter information about winter driving and how to prepare a car for the long season ahead is Larry Talbott.

Talbott is a full-time instructor at Granite City High School North where he teaches auto mechanics. He also teaches night classes for Belleville Area College with emphasis on car maintenance.

Talbott has devoted part of a two-hour class at North High to the subject of winterizing cars and proper driving techniques. Each student in his class has made reports on various areas and systems within a car, and how to drive on pavement under less than ideal conditions.

Topics covered during the class included: snow tires and chains; driving techniques; what to carry in your trunk during the winter; frozen doors and locks; proper warming-up of your car; anti-freeze and the cooling system; tune-ups; general car care and how to jump a dead battery properly.

It was emphasized that the chains are the best help in snow and especially on ice, with snow tires rated as next best among types of tires. It also was noted that radial tires have more surface area which helps greatly on snow, but are not much help on icy pavements. Proper air pressure also is imperative for proper handling of your car.

"Gently" is the word that is stressed most when discussing winter driving. Always accelerate slowly and "gently" and keep extra distance between cars on slick pavement to give more braking room. When braking, always pump your brakes easily and early to avoid skidding.

When coming out of a skid, remember that acceleration can be a help in recovering control of your car. Other cold weather tips to come out of Talbott's class:

Carry a bag of sand or old shingles in the trunk for extra weight and traction and also to help in getting out of holes and ruts when your car becomes stuck.

Other items to keep in the trunk all of the time, but especially during the winter, is a tool box with basic tools like screw drivers, wrenches, and a socket set if possible.

Always save old fan belts and hoses when replacing them as they may prove to be life savers on a cold night when a hose might freeze and break or a fan belt might break.

Carry a one-gallon plastic jug of half water and half anti-freeze for a radiator might run low. The jug also can be emptied and used to carry gasoline if you happen to run out of gas. Never carry gasoline in the car. Pound for pound, gasoline is more explosive than dynamite.

If you get to the car some morning to find the locks are frozen, try heating your key with a match or lighter then put the key in the lock to help melt the ice. To keep the doors from freezing shut, coat the rubber weather stripping with a light smear of cooking oil. Water and oil doesn't mix so water can't stay on the stripping and freeze.

Never throw or pour hot or cold water on frozen doors or locks as the difference in temperature might cause windows to shatter.

When warming up a car or truck always start the vehicle in the park position if equipped with an automatic transmission or with the clutch depressed in vehicles with manual transmission.

After a few seconds put either transmission in the neutral position (let out the clutch on manual transmission). This allows the transmission and its fluid to warm up also, making less strain on the drive train when driving begins.

Let the vehicle warm up for at least five minutes before driving.

Several types of heaters are available to aid in keeping engines warm during the night or for at least some time before driving. The best of these heaters are ones which hook-up to the cooling system of the vehicle, keeping the water and coolant warm which in turn keeps the engine and transmission warm. This kind of heater usually plugs in to 110-volt outlets.

Another type of heater that is readily available, but is bad for the oil and engine, is the dip stick heater. It also plugs into a normal outlet, then is placed into the engine block in lieu of the regular dip stick.

Heater is bad because the heater crystallizes the oil which breaks up the additives in the oil and creates additional sludge.

Prior to winter, always check all of the hoses and clamps in the cooling system of your vehicle and replace any parts that appear excessively worn or cracked. Flushing out the radiator also is a good idea and the cooling system should be filled with a mixture of 50 percent water and 50 percent anti-freeze.

Always use permanent type anti-freeze. This should last two years and will protect your engine from overheating during the summer as well.

Excess caution should be used in the storing of anti-freeze as many pets, especially dogs and cats like the smell and taste of anti-freeze, but even small amounts can be fatal.

Also recommended before winter sets in is a tune-up. Spark plugs, points, condensers, distributor caps, plug wires and oil and air filters should be changed.

To lengthen the life of your car, oil changes should come at 2,000 to 4,000-mile intervals. The more often the oil is changed the longer the engine should last.

Never mix brands, weights or types of oils as additives can react to each other, causing a break down of the oil which can cause damage to the engine.

Several brands of "heat," a gasoline additive, can be purchased and added to the gasoline to help evaporate unwanted water in the tank and to help keep gas lines from freezing.

The exterior of a vehicle also takes a beating during bad weather, which includes the build-up of ice around the wheel wells and salt and other chemicals from the roads.

A good coat of wax is one of the best protections against rust and corrosion and vehicles should be sprayed whenever possible to wash off salt and chemicals. Salt and chemicals can eat into paint and metal.

Large chunks of ice should be cleared from around wheels when possible to prevent them from falling off in the path of following cars and possibly causing an accident.

One of the most important areas of winterizing your car is the proper care and use of the battery. Each year people are burned and sometimes blinded by exploding car batteries, usually because proper protection was ignored or the people didn't know the proper procedure to follow in giving someone a "jump."

Jumping a dead battery can be a very easy thing to do if care is taken to protect those doing the jumping and the dead battery is carefully examined.

Never jump a frozen battery. Gases caused by the sulfuric acid in the battery can become trapped and eventually will expand and cause the battery to explode which can expel battery acid and chunks of battery casing.

Always wear eye protection. Safety glasses are best but even sun glasses can give you enough protection against the acid.

Be sure both batteries are of the same voltage, if they're not the same don't try to jump them.

Check and clean the terminals and make sure that the terminals are tight. Also remove the caps on the dead battery.

Check the acid level and fill with water to the proper level. If the dead battery is frozen do not attempt to jump it. Remove it from the vehicle and place it where it can slowly thaw to room temperature. Don't heat the battery to speed up the thawing process as this could also cause the battery to explode.

Always connect the cable to the positive posts of both batteries after checking to make sure the bodies of the two vehicles are not touching. Connect the second cable to the good battery and make sure both cables are clear of both fangs.

Start the car with the good battery and run at fast idle.

Connect the remaining cable end to a ground on the car with the dead battery. Don't connect the last cable end directly to the dead battery as a spark could cause a gas explosion.

Now start the car with the dead battery and remove the cables in reverse order. Be sure to replace the battery caps.

Let the car with the bad battery run for at least 30 minutes to allow the battery to charge. If possible, use gloves throughout the procedure to prevent acid burns to the hands.

If drivers would follow these simple rules and pointers many careless accidents could be avoided.

St. Elizabeth Hospital handles from two to three cases each week involving persons injured while attempting to jump a dead battery during the winter season.

Only minimal ozone in area

Ozone, that pervasive secondary pollutant, proved again during the 1978 season (May 1-September 30) that the only thing predictable about it is that it is unpredictable, according to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Traditionally, the highest ozone levels are reached from mid-July to mid-August. The 1977 season undermined this tradition when the highest levels occurred in May and early June.

This year, the undermining of tradition continued as the highest levels were reached in late August and through September.

During the 1978 season, ozone levels set records in at least two areas, according to a preliminary report issued by the agency's Division of Air Pollution Control.

A record eight yellow ozone alerts were declared by the Illinois EPA, with the first coming on Aug. 22.

A yellow alert is issued when ozone levels exceed 170 parts per billion (ppb) for a one-hour average, and weather conditions are such that the levels are expected to reoccur the following day.

No problems were reported in the Quad-Cities and southern Madison County.

Ozone advisory status was declared for a total of 797 station days in cities where monitors are located. This is the highest number of such days on record.

The previous high was 794 station-days registered in 1977. Advisory status is declared when ozone levels exceed 70 ppb for a two-hour average and such levels are expected to be repeated the following day.

The Air Monitoring Section of DAPC started the season with four more monitors than in 1977. New monitors were located in the Sears Tower, Chicago, and at Evanston, Edwardsville and Robinson.

The highest reading of the season was registered in Skokie in early September. The monitor there registered 263 ppb for a one-hour average. The record high to date is 266 ppb reached in 1977 in Waukegan.

The second highest reading in 1978 was 260 ppb recorded at Libertyville.

The first ozone advisory for 1978 was issued on May 10 for the Chicago area and, by June 23, the last area in the state where monitors are located was under advisory status.

Once an area was placed on advisory status, it could expect ozone levels to exceed 70 ppb for a two-hour average on those days when there were long hours of sunshine, temperatures reached 85 degrees or higher, and there were light winds.

The role of weather in the production of ozone cannot be overemphasized, according to the agency.

Given the above conditions plus hydrocarbons and nitrogen oxide emissions from cars, trucks and industries, the ingredients for the complicated photochemical process are present and the result is ozone.

One of the surprising elements to emerge from the 1978 season was data from the Marion monitor showing that Marion, deep in Southern Illinois, was under advisory status for 68 days, the most in the state.

The first yellow alert was issued for Alton and East Alton on Aug. 22, with the second issued for the same cities on Aug. 24.

On Sept. 5 and again on Sept. 6, yellow alerts were declared for Skokie.

The Wood River area was placed under a yellow alert on Sept. 7 and again on Sept. 8 along with Edwardsville.

Final alerts for the season were ordered on Sept. 9 for Evanston and the area of Chicago in the vicinity of West and Damen.

Even though the season ended on Sept. 30, continued warm weather caused the Illinois EPA to issue four special ozone advisories during October and for the first time since monitoring began in 1974 - during November, when three were ordered.

A good Samaritan who stopped to help a woman whose car apparently ran out of gas was beaten about the face and head by two men at the stoplight at 20th Street and Madison Avenue, it was reported at 5:30 a.m. Saturday.

Larry Zelechowski of Fairview Heights reported he stopped his auto in the back of the car of Cathy Selph that was stalled.

Two men jumped out of an orange van wearing F Troop jackets and began to hit him saying "are you going to sit through another green light" then drove off, according to the report.

Warn two in liquor sales to underage

Madison County sheriff's deputies issued warnings this week to liquor license holders of two West Chain of Rocks Road establishments which allegedly served beer to underage youths from Missouri.

There were no arrests, but officers alleged seeing 17-year-old Missouri youths served beer on separate occasions, one at a tavern and the other at a drive-through establishment. The youths' cars were stopped and beer found, deputies related.

The liquor license holders then were warned to be more careful about ages. One owner said the youth produced a driver's license showing him to be 20 years old, which deputies then confiscated. Sheriff Emil Toffant later commented, "This is something I have discussed with my top aides after receiving several complaints of Missouri juveniles being served in this area. Now the tavern and liquor store owners know what we want and what we expect of them," Toffant stated.

Vocal concert at South High tonight

Band concert at Madison tonight

The Madison Senior High School concert band will present its pre-holiday concert at 8 p.m. today in the high school auditorium, under the leadership of William F. Ledbetter, band director.

Popular, seasonal and classical numbers will be performed. Season tickets or single admission tickets will be available tonight.

South English faculty back from meeting

Carolyn Beck, Cynthia Hornell, Helen Kuenster and Helen Velt of the Granite City High School South English faculty have returned from Kansas City, Mo., where they attended the annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English.

More than 3,000 elementary, secondary, college and university teachers of English were present to view exhibits, hear speakers and attend sectional meetings dealing with a wide range of topics relevant to their teaching discipline.

"Widening the Circle of Communication," the theme of this year's convention, was a call to teachers of English to share concerns with other educators, legislators, government leaders, media, parents, and other citizens.

Marjorie Farmer, 1978 president of the NCTE, commented, "We see the current concern about basics as a great opportunity which we're glad to have. For years, teachers of English have been advocating the teaching of language across the curriculum and striving to encourage it."

"Now we have the attention of the public and a climate in which people are listening. They are interested in how we teach reading and writing. We need to listen to their ideas and share our convictions with them. In the post-Sputnik era, science and technology were divorced from language. Today people are coming to understand that the access to science—to all disciplines—is through language."

Among the authors heard by the South teachers were Gordon Parks, S. E. Hinton, Louis L'Amour, Alfred Kazin, Paul Zindel, Daniel Pader.

Granite City teachers also attended meetings dealing with matters such as the teaching of ethnic literature, competency testing, the impact of television upon reading and writing, the use of comic strips and cartoons in the language classroom, as well as other subjects which will be of interest to their colleagues.
